Earlier, Jio-bp began selling superior grade diesel at ₹1 cheaper than regular grade diesel

Wrestlers put off plan to drop medals in the Ganga

INDIA'S top wrestlers on Tuesday raised the pitch of their ongoing protest up a notch — against the delay in arresting sidelined Wrestling Federation of India chief Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh — by threatening to let their hard-earned medals wash away in the Ganga but put it off by five days to give the police time to act.

The five-day deadline for Singh's arrest came after the intervention of farmer leader Naresh Tikait.

Rough police action to evict them from the Jantar Mantar protest site on Sunday also weighed on their minds as they reached Haridwar with their medals on Tuesday evening. The United World Wrestling on Tuesday condemned the treatment meted out to the protesting wrestlers and their detention following a scuffle with the police on Sunday.

Earlier in the day, the grapplers had announced their intention to sit on an indefinite hunger strike at India Gate in Delhi after returning from Haridwar. However, sources in the Delhi Police told this newspaper they would not allow any demonstration at India Gate as it is a national monument.

At Har Ki Pauri in Haridwar, top wrestlers like Vinesh Phogat, Bajrang Punia, Sangeeta Phogat and Sakshi Malik said, "When the government is not ready to take action against the Singh, who is also a BJP MP, what is the use of these medals we won for the country?"

After taking a seat by the riverbank, clutching their medals, the grapplers broke down in tears as their numerous supporters formed a protective circle. Singh is facing grave charges of sexual harassment of grapplers, including that of a minor. Though he has also been booked under the POCSO Act, he is yet to be arrested.

At Har Ki Pauri, Nitin Gautam, president of the Shri Ganga Sabha, advised them against dropping their medals in the Ganga. "Har ki Pauri is a sacred pilgrimage site. Wrestlers can take holy baths, do charity, but medals will not be allowed to be dropped there. Har Ki Pauri will not be allowed to become an arena of politics."

The Samyukta Kisan Morcha has given a call for a nationwide agitation on June 1 to secure the democratic right of protest for the wrestlers.

Case against 70 Sankey flyover agitators closed

Based on court order, police file B report

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

IN a big relief to citizens and activists, the Karnataka High Court on Monday stayed all further investigation in the case related to a peaceful protest against the government's plan to widen Sankey Road and the construction of a flyover.

The High Court was hearing a plea filed by Avijit Michael, a resident and one of the 70 activists against whom First Information Reports (FIRs) were filed at the Sadashivanagar Police Station.

Based on the court order, the Halasuru Gate police station on Tuesday filed a B report, which means the police have not found any evidence against the accused to file a chargesheet and seek trial. "I never doubted the High Court would uphold our constitutional right. This a victory for active citizens and democracy," said Avijit.

Criminal cases were filed against the 70 protesting citizens on February 19, 2023 by the Sadashivanagar police. The citizens were taking part in a silent march wearing black and hugging trees near Sankey Tank. The police had filed cases under various sections, including 341, 141, 149, and 283 of IPC, which pertain to wrongful confinement, unlawful assembly and obstruction of public way.

After a opposition from activists, civic groups and even political parties, the case was transferred to the Halsuru Gate Police Station for an unbiased investigation.

"We are hopeful that the new Congress government will officially cancel the flyover and road widening project. Congress, then in opposition, had in February strongly supported us in our efforts to stop the unscientific Sankey Flyover," said Kimsuka Iyer from the Citizens for Sankey.

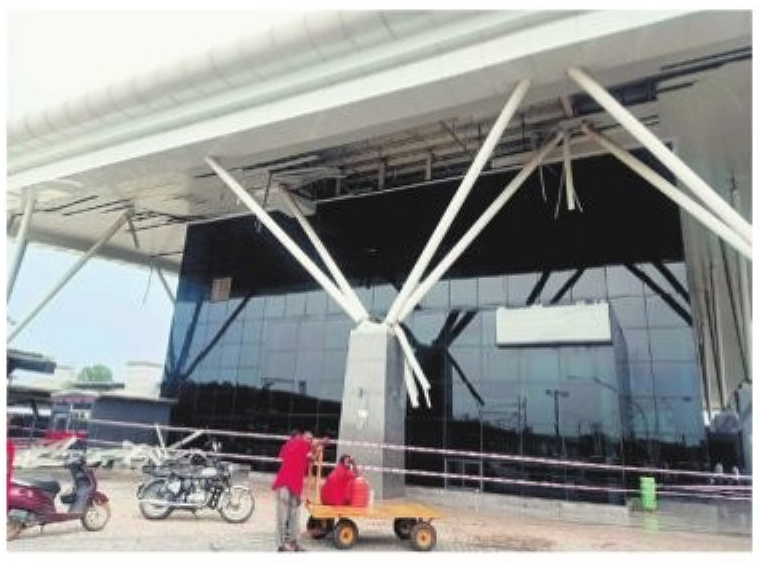
She urged the government to constitute the Bengaluru Metropolitan Land Transport Authority (BMLTA) so that mobility experts can find solutions to traffic-related problems.

The Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike in December 2022 had decided to go ahead with the proposed widening of Sankey Tank Bund road and flyover from T Chowdaiah Road, Sadashivanagar to Malleswaram 18th Cross, measuring 600 metres in length.

The agitation by citizens had made Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) go back on its plans. Members of the Citizens for Sankey had asked experts to analyse the project. Ashish Verma, a sustainable mobility researcher, from the Indian Institute of Science (IISc), examined the Detailed Project Report by the BBMP and opined that flyovers just shift the point of congestion and do not solve traffic problems. He had suggested that the BBMP should study alternatives and spillover effects before finalising the construction.

Environmentalists, who were also worried that the infrastructure project would lead to cutting of at least 60 trees, some as old as 100 years old, are now relaxed. Environmentalists said approaching courts seems to be the only way to stop the government's highhandedness in implementing civil projects.

The project was also going to affect two schools in the area.



Metal panels holding the ceiling at Sir M Visvesvaraya Terminal station gave way; Vehicles navigate through a water-logged road in Rajajinagar on Tuesday | EXPRESS

Gusty winds bring down roof at SMVT

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

IT was a narrow escape for passengers waiting at the state-of-the-art Sir M Visvesvaraya Terminal at Baiyappanahalli around 1.45pm Tuesday, as multiple metal panels holding the ceiling gave way, and sections of the inner roof began crashing down, both at the circulating area at the entrance and on Platform One.

Nearly 50 passengers seated at the entrance began to flee with their luggage. Despite this, a few luggage bags, including a TV set, were damaged. The Rs 314-crore structure, India's first centrally air-conditioned railway station, was inaugurated a year ago, on June 6. The roof had suffered a similar collapse in November last year, but it was on a minor scale.

When TNIE visited the station, broken metal from the roof was dumped in a corner and portions of the station were sealed.

An eyewitness told TNIE, "With the Howrah Express departure delayed by nearly three hours today, general ticket passengers who had to board the train were waiting outside the terminal. When it started raining, they rushed to the circulating area for shelter. Suddenly, there were fierce winds and the roof panels started tearing and falling. This gave passengers time to run inside the terminal."

A source said the iron sheet material is both heavy and sharp. "Passengers were lucky the panels did not fall on anyone."

Another eyewitness said, "One of the panels fell on a TV set a passenger was carrying home, and broke it. Luggage also suffered damage."

Giving details of the weather conditions, private weather forecaster Adarsh Gowda told TNIE, "Winds were quite intense and gusty close to SMVT Station, touching up to 65 kmph for ten minutes. Normal wind speed here is 30-40 kmph. It also got 40mm of rainfall for 25 minutes."

Subway connecting 7 platforms flooded

The subway at the far end which connects the seven platforms was flooded, and water had to be drained out using a motor. Housekeeping staffers mopping the floor complained about the station. "God only knows what work they have done, after spending so much. Every time it rains, the subway is flooded. Our hands are aching today," one of them them. Some passengers carried their luggage on their heads, while others opted for the buggy to avoid getting drenched.

Passengers slip and fall on granite floor

The smooth granite stones on platform floors are proving dangerous for passengers, particularly during rain, a vendor said. "The floors are slippery, and when it's wet, water is not visible and many slip and fall. It must be changed to concrete. I have seen many people fall while rushing to board trains."

Civic body to close KR Circle underpass

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

AFTER a woman was killed in a submerged KR Circle underpass following heavy downpour on May 21, the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) has started work on repairing, cleaning drains and improving connectivity at KR Circle.

However, heavy traffic has been impeding engineering and storm water drain works, and little has been done. "Work to clear channels to ensure free flow of water is under way. But the traffic movement is slowing down our work. We will request the traffic police to close the flyover for at least 15 days. We will also check all the underpasses in the city, especially those which are vulnerable to avoid any untoward incidents," a senior BBMP official said.

Ahead of heavy showers, the BBMP is planning to write to the traffic police to close the KR Circle underpass connecting Nrupatunga Road for at least 15 days. The BBMP has already requested the traffic police to close the underpasses whenever it rains. The works were supposed to be done during summer and pre-monsoon period, the official said, but it was delayed due to elections. "We will also seek reports from the contractors regarding the works. They have shown in the bills works have been done. When there is flooding, it might not be the case. If the connectivity of water channels were checked in advance, flooding would not have happened," the official said.

BBMP in state-of-war readiness: Girinath

Following directions from Deputy Chief Minister D K Shivakumar, the entire machinery of the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike has been galvanised to combat the flood-like situation arising due to heavy rainfall, said Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath on Tuesday. All zonal commissioners, joint commissioners, chief engineers and executive engineers along with the forest wing officials have directed to be on "high alert on the field" and constantly monitor the rain situation. The BBMP machinery is prepared to meet any eventuality and contingency of any kind. ENS

Heavy rain forecast for next two days

"THESE are pre-monsoon showers coupled with cyclonic circulation in the Comorin area and a trough from Vidharbha to south Tamil Nadu over interior Karnataka. Heavy rain is expected in the next two days in most parts of the state. Some areas may receive up to 7cm rain in the next 24 hours. A yellow alert has been issued and people must be cautious," an official from IMD said.

Many affected people took to social media to express their problems. Many roads were flooded as heavy rains accompanied by thunderstorms lashed the city. Bellandur Outer Ring Road (ORR), Mysuru Road, JC Road, Chickpet, KR Market, Shantinagar, Sarjapur Road and Old Madras Road were the worst affected. Motorists were seen wading through knee-deep water in these areas. Waterlogging near RMZ Ecospace in Bellandur resulted in a traffic jam on ORR.

The city also recorded 2cm of rain in the afternoon. Office-goers and students returning home were stranded. Many were unable even to cross the newly tarred roads as they were flooded. At Bellandur and on Sarjapur Road, civic workers and traffic police were seen clearing the clogged drains. Police had a tough time regulating traffic on the busy Mysuru Road.

Underpasses at Shivananda Circle, Sankey Road and Lingarajapuram were flooded. Trees were uprooted in Kamalanagar, HRBR Layout, Mahalakshmi Layout, Nandini Layout, Kalyanagar, Sarvagnanagar, Basaveshwar Nagar, Nagapura surrounding areas because of gusty winds. Power supply was disrupted in parts of the city because of treefall and transformers' blast.

An overflowing drain near Cubbon Park Metro Station brought traffic to a near standstill on many roads in the area.

KUMBLE COMES OUT IN SUPPORT OF WRESTLERS

Bengaluru: Former Indian cricketer Anil Kumble on Tuesday expressed solidarity with the country's top wrestlers who have been staging protests alleging sexual harassment by Wrestling Federation of India president and MP Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh, and demanding his arrest. Taking to Twitter, Kumble said he was dismayed at the manhandling of the protesters by Delhi Police. "Dismayed to hear about what transpired on the 28th of May with our wrestlers being manhandled. Anything can be resolved through proper dialogue. Hoping for a resolution at the earliest," he tweeted. Retweeting it, Rajya Sabha MP Jairam Ramesh Kumble's remarked, "I salute you." Abhilash Prabhakaran, who organised a recent protest in Bengaluru, said cricketers' words carry a lot of weight in India. He was glad that Kumble has spoken up in support of the wrestlers. Former sports journalist Joseph Hoover said, "We need more sports and film personalities to extend their support." ENS

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

31st May : As promised, here's some more information about telescopes. If you were to buy one for yourself, the minimum size would be a 'four inch'. That doesn't refer to its length, but to the mirrors and magnification equipment. With such a piece of equipment you will be able to see Saturn's rings and Jupiter's moons - and your life will never be the same again!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)

There really is a great deal to be done to lift your horizons above the purely mundane and routine nuts and bolts of daily life. Further education is strongly indicated in your chart, which suggests that all of you have the chance to improve yourselves.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)

Business affairs must take as much of your attention as required. Do be sure not to play free and easy with other people's money though, as your view of the facts is coloured by what you would like to be true, rather than by what actually is true.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)

Your romantic stars are now looking very powerful. The Moon and Venus, two very emotional planets, are so aligned as to get your feelings moving and, in the right circums-tances, set your heart on fire. Of course, what you need is the perfect person to appear, and that's an unknown quantity.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)

You tend to see everything as either black or white, a perhaps inevitable consequence of the need to choose between different options. Try to be more flexible; both recent successes and disappoint-ments have made you more tolerant of others, perhaps with good reason.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)

You may let go of the past a little, especially at home. The emphasis today is on relations with children which, on a psychological level, indicates that you can also be more childlike. This of course means that you can enjoy yourself more than usual!

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)

A partner or colleague may be ready to clinch a deal which will do you a power of good, especially at home. If you can force the pace and get others to divulge all they know, then do so, but please go gently. After all, your goal is to get at the truth, rather than to prove that you were right.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)

Today's personal choices and decisions are likely to be made in a spirit of optimism. This is fine just as long as you realise that conditions may have changed by the time you come to implement them, so include a few safeguards. That's only commonsense!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)

You might have been misled or misinformed, but you may put it all down to a general communications breakdown rather than to any general malice. Your plans should now be shaped by how much cash you have in your purse. You'll have to work within your limits: there is no other choice!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)

The next few days could find you waking up, as if from a deep sleep. You'll begin to realise that situations which seemed so confused are really very straightforward. At home you may give a child or younger relation one hundred and one percent support. Nothing less will do.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)

Sometimes the pressure of deciding what to do next is just too great! You may well feel like withdrawing from the fray, and why not? You have received quite a battering from certain people in the recent past, and you might conclude that now it's time to look after number one. In other words, you!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)

You will always have a great need for comfort and stability, but recently you have felt this slipping away. Don't worry. It's just that a curious series of planetary cycles is saving the best for next week. If you give a little now, then you'll receive much more later!

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)

Your emotional depths have been stirred up by recent planetary battles, which have forced you to face the truth about at least one individual. You may begin to see the future with a little more clarity. That has to be good news. Never doubt, though, that you have the love of that one special person.

After fish kill, sewage still flows into Madiwala Lake

Lake activists flag negligence of BBMP, forest department

PURAN CHOUDHARY
@Bengaluru

DESPITE last week's fish kill in Madiwala Lake, precious little has been done to restore the quality of water. Even on Tuesday morning, hundreds of dead fish washed along the banks of the lake.

Lake activists have once again flagged the negligence of the BBMP and the Karnataka Forest Department, Bengaluru Urban Division, for failing to stop sewage from entering the lake. "Not just fish, but microscopic organisms are also being affected due to bad quality of water. It will take at least a year to rejuvenate this lake," said Manjunath, lake activist, Federation of Bengaluru Lakes.

Frustrated at the apathy on the part of the authorities, activists and citizens took matter into their own hands to at least contain the damage. They hired an excavator to fix a portion of the wall of the stormwater drain, which was damaged on May 25, that was letting in huge amount of sewage into the lake.

Meanwhile, Deputy Conservator of Forests Chakrapani Y said they had communicated to the BBMP to fix the damaged wall. "It is not just the responsibility of the Forest Department. All officials have to work in tandem."

He also added that the department doesn't handle inlets of the lake and taking care of the lake is part of the "larger landscape of the area," which is the responsibility of the BBMP.

The Range Forest Officer (RFO) said, "The citizens helped to restore the wall and other measures have been taken considering the onset of monsoon onset." He added that the fish kill numbers were not so high, and "there is nothing to worry about."

Youngster falls into sextortion net on Facebook, files plaint

PRAVEEN KUMAR
@ Bengaluru

A 23-year-old man became a victim of sextortion after he shared his nude photographs and videos with an unidentified woman on Facebook.

The victim, N Pradeep (name changed), a resident of Magadi who is self-employed, accepted a friend request from a woman who introduced herself as S Deepika, and claimed to be from Ramanagara. They also exchanged their contact numbers, following which Deepika compelled Pradeep to share his nude videos and photos, and in return, received similar ones, claiming to be hers.

Following this, the blackmailer threatened to circulate his explicit videos and pictures among his friends on social media, if her monetary demands were not met. Fake social media accounts were created in Pradeep's name, and the accused even shared a pornographic video generated using his pictures.

Pradeep filed a complaint on Sunday and a CEN police station registered a case and took up investigation.

Pradeep said he got the friend request on April 23 this year, and they exchanged phone numbers on May 17, after which Deepika expressed her love for him. Falling for this hoax, he shared his nudes the next day. On May 26, the victim discovered four fake social media accounts with his name and pictures.

"It is unclear if the victim was actually extorted. He has requested us to take down all his fake social media accounts," said an officer.

The Cyber Crime Division of the CID has requested the public to exercise caution while accepting friend request from unknown persons.

Oral cancer cases up, tobacco still the main villain

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

TOBACCO-related cancer cases have alarmingly increased with rising tobacco consumption, with oral cavity being the highest affected organ.

On World No-Tobacco Day, celebrated every year on May 31, Kidwai Memorial Institute of Oncology (KMIO) observed that a majority of patients seeking treatment for cancer, especially males, were affected due to tobacco.

KMIO's recent findings showed that oral cavity, pharynx, oesophagus, lungs, larynx and urinary bladder were most affected due to tobacco consumption. Available data suggest that tobacco-related cancer cases are more among men (over 45%) and smoking is the leading cause of mortality; 90% of deaths in men and 80% in women.

Doctors said most of the patients are from poor socio-economic backgrounds, who are unaware of the implications of consuming tobacco in one form or another – heart and respiratory diseases, sleeplessness, urinary bladder issues, impotency in men, menstrual imbalances, stillbirth and cervical cancer in women to name a few.

This year, WHO announced the theme 'We Need Food, Not Tobacco', to reduce the consumption and cultivation of tobacco across the world.

The Karnataka health department has also organised a cyclathon on Wednesday to create awareness about the impact of tobacco cultivation and consumption on the environment, health and economy. Newly inducted Health and Family Welfare Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao will flag off the event from Aarogya Soudha.

So far, the state's tobacco control cell has succeeded to make 30 villages tobacco-free. With Karnataka being the second largest producer of tobacco products in India, after Andhra Pradesh, extra measures are being taken to promote alternative crop production among tobacco cultivating farmers.

START WORK ON MEKEDATU, MAHADAYI: DKS TO OFFICIALS

Deputy chief minister sets target to get clearance for irrigation-related projects from Union government

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

DEPUTY Chief Minister DK Shivakumar, who holds the water resources portfolio, told department officials to take up Mekedatu and Mahadayi water reservoir projects on priority and to start the preparatory works.

Meeting the officials on Tuesday, he set them a target to get approvals from the Centre for irrigation-related projects in the state. He told them to focus on completing pending projects, mobilising resources for projects and generating employment.

He asked them why no work has been initiated, like acquiring land, in the Mekedatu project, though the state government had allotted Rs 1,000 crore. Shivakumar had taken out a massive rally from Mekedatu to Bengaluru in May last year, urging the then BJP government to implement the project.

Deputy Chief Minister D K Shivakumar arrives for a meeting with Major and Medium Irrigation Department officials at Vikasa Soudha in Bengaluru on Tuesday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

He told the officials that while neighbouring states like Tamil Nadu and Maharashtra got many irrigation projects, Karnataka was allotted only a few. This shows that the state has not got justice. Officials should work to get more projects to the state from the Centre, he added.

He said Congress had promised to utilise Rs 1 lakh crore in the next five years for irrigation projects. "You should work on mobilising resources, either from the government or other sources," he said.

Appreciating Union Water Resources Minister Gajendrasingh Shekawat, Shivakumar said he is a good man. "Let us take his help for Karnataka. Let's also take MPs into confidence. If needed, we will meet the Prime Minister and other Union ministers," he said.

Shivakumar told them not to compromise on the quality of work and warned them that there should strictly be no corruption. Officials should not waste their time calling tenders, allotting works, generating bills and other such works. "Let us bring changes. If you don't work, some other official will work in your place. Get the work done," he said.

Shivakumar, who was water resources minister in the HD Kumaraswamy-led JDS-Congress coalition government in 2018, said, "After I stepped down from the department, no progress has been seen."

He urged the officials to prepare a blueprint to develop reservoirs into tourism hubs.

Transport Minister Ramalinga Reddy meets officials of the four transport corporations at the KSRTC headquarters in Bengaluru on Tuesday | EXPRESS

All women can travel in govt buses free of cost, hints Ramalinga Reddy

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

TRANSPORT Minister Ramalinga Reddy on Tuesday said that the government will provide free travel in government buses for all women in the state and a final decision on the same will be taken at the cabinet meeting scheduled on June 1.

"There are nearly 3.5 crore women in the state. If all of them wish to travel in government buses, they can travel for free," Reddy told reporters after holding a high-level meeting with top officials of all four bus corporations - KSRTC, BMTC, KKSRTC, and NWKSRTC on Tuesday.

When questioned about the eligibility for free travel, whether it is free for all women or just BPL card-holders, or will women be allowed to travel in all government buses including AC ones, Reddy said, "In the party's election manifesto, we have not mentioned any terms and conditions for the free travel guarantee, like it's applicable to BPL or APL ration card-holders. All women can travel free of cost."

Telling reporters to avoid raising questions like the Opposition BJP, Reddy said the government will implement all the free travel schemes. "I have taken stock of the situation at all four bus corporations -- losses during the pandemic, staff strength, ridership, fleet strength and revenues. The officials are drafting a detailed report on free travel, which will be submitted to Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on May 31 at the pre-cabinet meeting. The final decision on free travel will be taken at the cabinet meeting on June 1."

Reddy also slammed the BJP that is gearing up to protest if the Congress fails to deliver on the guarantees. "People have voted for the Congress and the sent the BJP home. We will implement the guarantees and not give any scope for the BJP to protest."

He said that the bus corporation officials have offered three ways in which the scheme can be implemented, and one of them is expected to be taken up.

KSRTC sources maintained that the free travel scheme could be implemented only if the government reimburses the cost of free travel as the bus corporations are running under heavy losses with the loss of KSRTC on an average more than Rs 100 crore every year. They also said that this free scheme will only be applicable to ordinary buses and they are figuring out if the free scheme should be rolled out by giving passes to women or just giving them tickets, when they board the bus so that they can track the free ridership.

George meets energy dept officials

Bengaluru: Energy Minister K J George on Tuesday held a meeting with officials of all ESCOMs -- KPCL, KPTCL and other concerned agencies -- to take stock of their situation. He also collected details on monsoon preparedness, manpower, resources and the works carried out so far. According to officials, it was the maiden meeting to understand the nuances of the working, generation, stock, transmission and losses. George also collected details of the profits, losses and costs incurred. Other officials who were present at the closed-door meeting, however, confirmed that there was no detailed discussion on the supply of 200 units of free power. Meanwhile, they did state that the financial details that were being collected were on the same lines.

Ministers can transfer officials

Bengaluru: The government issued an order empowering ministers to effect the transfer of Group A, B, C, and D officials in their respective departments, from June 1 to June 15, as part of the general transfers for 2023-24. The Government Order issued on Tuesday stated that ministers are empowered to effect transfers of officers, up to six percent of the cadre strength in their respective departments, till June 15. State Government Employees Association president CS Shadakshari welcomed the government decision on general transfers and said it will help a large number of employees waiting for transfers. He said it covers District level officers to group D employees.

HC gives Narayan temporary relief

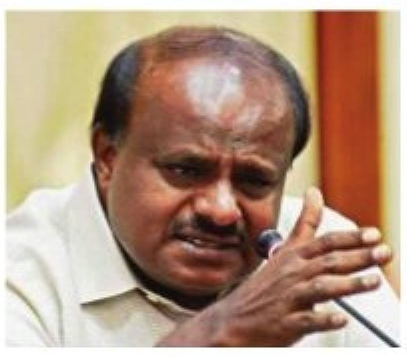
Bengaluru: The Karnataka High Court on Tuesday stayed the FIR against Malleswaram BJP MLA Dr C N Ashwath Narayan for four weeks. Narayan had approached the HC, seeking a direction to quash the FIR lodged against him for his remarks against the then Leader of Opposition and current Chief Minister Siddaramaiah. Justice M Nagaprasanna, who heard the petition and arguments by senior advocate Prabhuling Navadgi, said that prima facie, the offence under Section 153 of the IPC (provocation for rioting) was not forthcoming. In a meeting of BJP workers on February 15, Narayan had allegedly called upon the party supporters to "finish off Siddaramaiah just like Uri Gowda and Nanje Gowda finished off Tipu Sultan".

JDS girds up for bigger battles ahead

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

PARLIAMENTARY elections are about 11 months away, yet JDS leader HD Kumaraswamy -- whose party went from 37 seats to just 19 in the assembly elections -- seems more determined than ever to restore his party to the important status it once enjoyed.

Kumaraswamy has put defeat firmly behind him, and is looked ahead at the general elections. "If anyone thinks the JDS is finished, they are sadly mistaken. For the parliamentary election, we are strong in two seats, we can give a solid fight in three more constituencies, and in five or six other seats, we can decide the outcome with our choice of candidates and strategies," he said.



Asked about regaining lost support, he said confidently, "200 per cent we will get back the 4 per cent that we lost. We will take it back during parliamentary polls. Congress leader and CM Siddaramaiah is already talking about 20 parliamentary seats, we will fight these elections well."

A combative Kumaraswamy said the party has already held a statewide meeting to introspect the poor show. "We are preparing for district level meetings where we will not only go through the assembly poll results but also plan for the future," he said. The party is diligently preparing for the upcoming ZP-TP polls, BBMP polls and parliamentary polls.

The JDS-BSP tie-up in 2018 had helped the party get good numbers, but this time, it lost the support of the Muslim community. Analysing this, he said, "No one gave the Muslim community 4 per cent reservation. JDS leader Deve Gowda did it. We did not get their support because of fear. It is surprising, as Muslims support Nitish Kumar who has allied with the BJP on multiple occasions, but not us. We have to look out for our own survival, some castes and communities have taught us a lesson." Lingayat support left the Janata Dal fold post 1999, which Kumaraswamy said they are now working on.

The Congress has promised many freebies, but we have to wait to see how they are implemented, he said.

My confidence intact, I'm not depressed: Shettar

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Hubballi

COMING out in public for the first time after the Assembly poll results, former chief minister Jagadish Shettar said here on Friday that neither his confidence is shaken nor has he slipped into depression as presumed by somebody. Addressing a meeting of Congress workers from the Hubballi-Dharwad Central Assembly segment, Shettar said he lost the election, but Congress won the state. The victory is a tight slap on the face of the BJP central leadership and will likely be an agent of change in national politics.

Stating that party workers need not be disheartened by his defeat, Shettar said he has not lost personally, but his family elders, who had struggled to build BJP, have tasted defeat and later emerged victorious. Even leaders like HD Deve Gowda, BS Yediyurappa, KS Eshwarappa and Siddaramaiah lost elections in their careers. Siddaramaiah became chief minister twice only after experiencing defeat, he added.

Victory and defeat are part of electoral politics, but party workers should not be worried and continue to strive for the party's success, he said. He urged them to prepare for the next year's general election and to win it convincingly. Also, local body elections are coming up and the party will win the majority in zilla and taluk panchayats as its base is strong in rural areas, he added. Lashing out at opposition parties for criticising the Congress government for the delay in implementing the five guarantees promised before the election, he said the party is committed to its promises. If even three of the five guarantees are implemented, the party will register a thumping victory in the parliament election. In the previous general election, BJP won 25 seats and it will be reversed in the next year's election, he predicted.

DKS to meet Shettar

After Shettar did not get a cabinet berth as expected by his followers, some kind of disillusionment has set in in his camp. Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar is expected to meet him on Wednesday and is likely to give him some assurance. Arriving on a special flight, Shivakumar will meet Shettar and leave for Bengaluru to attend the cabinet meeting, party sources said.

AGRICULTURE Minister Cheluvarayaswamy convened a meeting with the department officials on Tuesday, where he was informed that of 8,292 sanctioned posts, 5,195 or 58 per cent are vacant. The minister said that this could result in delay in delivery of government schemes.

"The schemes may not reach the beneficiaries. The vacancies should be filled up," he said, and directed officials to submit a report in this regard.

The officials were also asked to ensure adequate supply of sowing and fertilizers ahead of monsoon.

"In pre-monsoon, Karnataka should have received 108 mm of rainfall. During pre-monsoon, we had a target of 2.95 lakh hectares of sowing of which 2.48 lakh hectares have been covered. For this season, the seed demand is 5.54 lakh quintal seeds and we already have 7.85 lakh quintal in stock. There is no shortage. We are targeting 82.35 lakh hectares of sowing this monsoon," the officials informed the minister. There is also a demand of 25.47 lakh tonnes of fertilizers of which the department has already supplied 7.30 lakh tonnes. The godowns have 13.90 lakh tonnes while there is a buffer stock of 1.68 lakh tonnes in government-aided organisations. So, there is no shortage of fertilizers.

The minister said officials should be present in all Raitha Samparka Kendras, soil test reports should be submitted on time, and availing crop insurance should be seamless for farmers.

IMPROVING LIVELIHOODS

KALI TIGER RESERVE TO SELL OWN HONEY PROCURED BY TRIBAL FAMILIES

AMIT S UPADHYE @ Hubballi

NOW get ready to slurp the pure honey made in the deep jungles of Kali Tiger Reserve. The forest department has rolled out a project with an aim to improve the livelihoods of tribal families. The department will involve natives in the production of honey, which will be marketed through the department in the next few months.

About 60 tribal families have been chosen under the programme, and each has received wooden boxes with honeybee colonies. The families were selected by a team of apiculturists and horticulturalists, who also trained the participants on beekeeping, honey production and packing.

Located in the core Western Ghats of Uttara Kannada district, the Reserve houses many tribal hamlets where hundreds of families live, disconnected from the modern world. The honey produced here will have unique medicinal properties, given the wild flora that thrives here. The Tiger Reserve officials recently launched a programme named Swayam, under which the honey selling project will be undertaken.

Director of Kali Tiger Reserve Maria Christu Raja said the project will improve the income of tribal families. "Since most of them are familiar with extracting wild honey and dealing with honeybees traditionally, the programme is well suited for the community," he said.

The families were selected in a transparent manner by calling for interested persons. "The selected families were trained for two days and tested by authorities from the horticulture department and professional apiculturists for their skill levels and commitment to take up apiculture as a livelihood," he said.

The authorities plan to expand the programme to other regions of the Reserve, depending on the success. The current project has been divided into three regions, including Diggi, Kumbarwada and Anashi. "By next year, the families will be able to purchase additional boxes and colonies of bees. Maximum profit will be given to the producers, and strict monitoring will be done to ensure quality," said a trainer from the horticulture department.

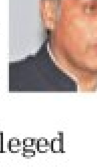
Cong seeks white paper on situation along LAC

ENS @ Bengaluru

CONGRESS leader Manish Tewari on Tuesday demanded that the Centre publish a white paper on the situation along the Line of Actual Control and details on how many buffer zones have been created, how many of them are in Indian territory, and how much territory has been lost.



Tewari accused the Centre of not allowing a single discussion in Parliament since September 2020 on the border situation, and alleged that questions asked by members have not been entertained citing national security.

He said India faces the most unprecedented external security challenge and the Chinese PLA has not vacated its transgression into Indian territory, where buffer zones have been created.

"Recently, there was a report that the Chinese in the Depsang region are asking for a buffer of 15-20 km in Indian territory. The Depsang is strategically one of India's most important positions, because this 1,000-km plateau separates China from Pakistan. Unfortunately, rather than being upfront with the country about the Chinese transgression, the NDA-BJP government has not allowed a single discussion in Parliament," he said. He added that the Centre has failed on all fronts. He added that by giving the historic mandate to the Congress in the Assembly elections, the people of Karnataka have shown the path to the rest of the country that politics of polarisation can be kept aside and real issues brought to the fore, which helped to determine the destiny of Karnataka and India.

3 Andhra fishermen released from Pak jail reunite with families

USHA PERI @ Visakhapatnam

AFTER spending four-and-half years in Karachi's Malir Jail, three fishermen from Andhra Pradesh finally reunited with their families in Visakhapatnam on May 28. The fishermen, identified as M Bhaskar (40) from Koyyam in Srikakulam, Narain Rao (46) from Pasuvulanka in East Godavari and M Sathiam (53) from Ubavalanka in Kakinada, were arrested in November 29, 2018.

The trio was among the 198 Indian fishermen who were captured by the Pakistan Maritime Security Agency in the Arabian Sea off the coast of Gujarat for violating the International Maritime Boundary Line. The Pakistani authorities handed over the fishermen to Indian officials at the Wagah Border on May 13. They were first shifted to Veraval in Gujarat on May 15 for medical examinations.

Recalling his time in Malir Jail, Bhaskar said, "As South Indians, the three of us were fortunate enough to receive white rice, unlike the others who struggled to eat half-cooked rotis. The prison housed a diverse mix of individuals with both good and bad elements. However, once confined to their cells, they had no choice but to endure their time in jail. Regardless of the severity of your health condition, there are no medical supplies. You are left to face your own demise within the confines of the cell."

Bhaskar also revealed that his father had died two years ago, but he learned about it only after returning home. He pointed out that the trio were supposed to be released, along with the others, in January, but due to issues with identity cards, they had to serve another few months in jail. Another 300 fishermen will be released in the next few months.

2-seater trainer aircraft makes emergency landing near Belagavi

Belagavi: A two-seater trainer aircraft belonging to Redbird Aviation made an emergency landing in an agriculture field due to a technical snag near Sambra airport, Belagavi, at 9.30am on Tuesday. According to informed sources, no casualties were reported in the incident. Redbird Aviation is the biggest flying school in the country with one of its flying bases in Belagavi. Both the crew members, a pilot and trainee, survived the incident, but the pilot is said to have suffered minor injuries. The pilot landed the aircraft in the field after reporting a technical snag while flying close to Sambra airport where the Redbird Aviation flying school is located. A large number of people gathered at the site as soon as the aircraft made the emergency landing. An investigation is being launched by the authorities of the flying school and the police separately, sources said. ENS

Low-flying plane worries people; just for mineral survey, says govt

AMIT S UPADHYE @ Hubballi

RESIDENTS of several villages in Koppal district have been observing a low-flying aircraft over the last few days, and this has left them anxious. Perplexed residents even tried to follow the aircraft on two-wheelers thinking that it could crash owing to some technical snag.

The Koppal administration, however, has clarified that the flight is flying low to estimate mineral deposits and the entire process is being monitored by government agencies.

The low-flying was reported along the Tungabhadra river and surrounding areas. The aircraft takes off from Hubballi airport and is surveying the area on a daily basis.

A resident of Betageri said that people are anxious to watch the aircraft flying low over buildings and trees. "Many thought the flight was experiencing some technical snag and hence could make an emergency landing. The aircraft was flying so low that people clicked pictures and videos on their mobile phones. We got to know the real reason only after senior panchayat members explained about the mineral survey," the resident elaborated.

The low-flying aircraft flying over a village in Koppal district

A senior district official said that aircrafts are surveying the area for mineral deposits over the Tungabhadra basing using modern technology. The flights have cameras and sensors through which large deposits of minerals can be detected.

"The entire operation is underway with the permission from the Union Government. People need not panic. The flying will be called off in the next few days as most of the survey has been completed," the official said.

Mining experts from Ballari say that the area along the Tungabhadra river has rich mineral deposits. "Once the aerial surveys are completed, ground checks will be done to confirm the presence of minerals for digging," said a mining corporation official from Sandur.

LOW CIBIL SHOULD NOT PRECLUDE EDU LOAN: KERALA HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kochi

THE Kerala High Court on Tuesday observed that a bank should not reject the education loan application of a student simply because their CIBIL score is low. The court issued the order on a petition filed by Noel Paul Fredy of Aluva, who is a final-year student pursuing BTech Computer Science and Engineering with (Specialization in Cyber Security and Digital Forensics) programme on the Bhopal campus of Vellore Institute of Technology. The court also directed to disburse a loan of ₹4,07,200 to the petitioner's college.

"A humanitarian approach is necessary from the part of banks while considering an education loan application. Students are the nation-builders of tomorrow. Simply because, the CIBIL score is low for a student, who is an applicant for an education loan, the bank should not have rejected the application," said Justice P V Kunhikrishnan. The petitioner had applied for an education loan at State Bank of India, Malikampeedika Branch, Aluva, in August 2022. The annual fee of ₹4,02,000 was paid by the parents. However, it became impossible for the petitioner to pay the fee for the 4th year. It was under this circumstance, the petitioner approached the bank seeking a loan to pay the last semester's fee. But, it was not sanctioned even after repeated requests by the petitioner. He is a meritorious student and had received excellent marks throughout his semesters. He has even secured a job with Global Money Exchange, Oman, and is awaiting his Visa.

The Visa process could be completed only if the petitioner submits certificates showing the completion of studies. For the university to release the certificates, he has to pay an annual tuition fee of ₹4,07,200 for 2022-23 academic year, the plea stated.

The petitioner, Noel Paul Fredy, was informed that the delay in sanctioning loan was on account of a low CIBIL score. The petitioner and his parents have a CIBIL score less than what has been prescribed for sanctioning educational loans.

More fiction than facts around the sceptre story: PC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Pudokkottai

THE Delhi Police, acting against protesting women wrestlers, were themselves behaving like wrestlers, remarked P Chidambaram, Congress leader and former Union Home Minister during an interaction with the press in Pudukkottai on Tuesday.

"The wrestlers have been protesting for 30 days but the government didn't care, they belittled the protest. Their forceful removal from the place of protest by Delhi Police was undemocratic. This not the way a democratic country should end a protest," he added.

Regarding the 'sengol' controversy, Chidambaram said, "We are happy about it, but there's more fiction than actual history surrounding it. The Adheenakartha from Thiruvaduthurai travelled to Delhi by train and presented Jawaharlal Nehru with the golden staff. At that time, Nehru had received hundreds of gifts from across the country, all of which are now preserved in the Allahabad Museum. Historians also say that Mountbatten was not in Delhi that day — he was in Karachi to participate in Pakistan's independence event, and returned to Delhi on the night of August 14."

Chidambaram also came down hard on Prime Minister Narendra Modi over the ongoing conflict in Manipur, saying, "After I have pointed out, Home Minister Amit Shah has now gone to Manipur. It's late, but still it is fine. But PM Modi has not uttered a single word about the Manipur riots; he should be the one to tell people to stay united. Nehru would always rush to a spot wherever there was a riot, and urge for the people to remain united."

> Historians say Mountbatten was not in Delhi that day. He was in Karachi to participate in Pakistan's I-Day event, and returned on the night of August 14

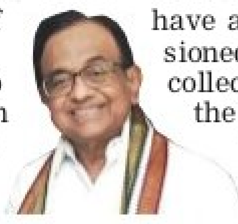
> P Chidambaram, Congress leader

The Congress leader also remarked on the issue of deaths caused by illicit liquor, saying it was the duty of Chief Minister Stalin and the police department to take strict action, but that it was unfair to say that law and order in the state is bad. On the recent I-T raids, he said that barring a few, majority of the raids were orchestrated.

Chidambaram informed that he had allotted ₹2 crore to build a new library in Thirumayam and ₹1.25 crore to set up an upgraded public health centre in Alangudi through his MP funds.

"I've already discussed this with concerned officials. Works have already been commissioned by Sivagangai district collector Asha Ajith, and by the end of June, tenders would be finalised and work would begin," he added.



'Won't tolerate pollution of water bodies'

BOSKY KHANNA
@ Bengaluru

FOR newly minted Environment, Forest and Ecology Minister Eshwar Khandre, finding solutions to the twin problems of air and water pollution will be his priority. "The lethargic functioning of government officials and their inability to take action will not be tolerated. Stern action will be taken against officials, industries and individuals for polluting sewage lines and lakes," he told The New Indian Express.

Putting his words to action, the minister will visit Bellandur Lake on Wednesday to gauge the ground situation and to know why despite directions from the National Green Tribunal (NGT), work on rejuvenation of the lake was going at a slow pace.

Contamination of water bodies will not be tolerated, he said. In a meeting on Monday, officials of the Karnataka State Pollution Control Board (KSPCB) were asked why they were not acting on the Water Act. A notice has been served to officials in Raichur over rising cases of water contamination.

"I have also sought details on works done on controlling pollution levels so far. Nothing concrete seems to have been done. There are many issues that need to be addressed, including plastic waste, e-waste and sewage. I will also visit Vrishabhavathi valley and take stock of the situation," he said.

Pertaining to forest areas, Khandre said man-animal conflict is a matter of concern. Forest protection is crucial and there will no compromise on this. Awareness and cooperation among people on this needs to be increased.

"A lot of streamlining needs to be done. Things will happen. I am holding meetings to take stock of all departments. There will be no compromise on environment protection," he said.

Fund misuse: Ready for probe, says Bommai

THE Chief Secretary has been directed to submit reports within 15 days with details of those responsible for misuse of funds.

Priyank Kharge, Chittapura MLA, and newly appointed Rural Development and Panchayat Raj (RDPR) Minister alleged that ₹45 crore meant for purchase of new buses for Kalyan Karnataka Road Transport Corporation was used for other purposes without approval.

He alleged that Kalyan Karnataka Human Resources, Agriculture and Cultural Society misappropriated funds, claiming that it had planted one crore saplings in six districts by spending ₹310.59 crore.

The society claimed that it spent ₹327.40 crore on promotion of indigenous cow breeds. But funds were given to a few who already had cows and also to a institutes in violation of rules.

Meanwhile, former chief minister Basavaraj Bommai said, "We are ready to face any probe."

WORLD MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS DAY

Meagre data on multiple sclerosis affects policy, patient welfare

NAMRATA SINDWANI @ Bengaluru

LACK of knowledge and little data over multiple sclerosis (MS), a neurological disorder, has hindered policy and programme formulation for the diseased. MS is a disease affecting the central nervous system (CNS) — an immune-mediated disorder in which the immune system attacks healthy tissues in the CNS.

Arun Mohan, governing council member, Multiple Sclerosis Society of India (MSSI), has been suffering from MS for ten years. "From leading a normal life to being diagnosed with a disease I was clueless about, the shift has been extremely hard. I was often mistaken for turning up drunk at work as I struggled to walk straight."

Awareness about MS disease continues to be very low. There is no proper research conducted to understand how many people actually suffer from it, which makes it difficult to formulate policies and programmes for them. On World MS Day, celebrated on May 30, Mohan urged the government to take necessary measures to perform a survey and introduce policies benefitting them.

According to MSSI, the prevalence of MS in India stands at 8-9 people per 1 lakh. It is estimated that the approximate number of persons with MS is close to 1.8 lakh in India. Cases are now increasingly detected with the availability of MRI at affordable prices.

People with the MS suffer more than other disabled, Mohan said. A person with a visible 40 per cent disability is eligible for a Unique Identity Disability card (UDID). Since symptoms for people with MS vary from time to time, many of them face difficulty in availing UDID. There is no reservation for such people in office spaces, educational institutes, government programmes and insurance schemes either, Mohan added.

MS is more common among women; 8 out of 10 people suffering from MS in the 20-25 age group are women. Some of the symptoms include blurred vision, loss of balance, poor coordination, slurred speech, tremors, numbness, extreme fatigue, problems with memory and concentration, paralysis, blindness and more. They vary from person to person and are very unpredictable. Sometimes the symptoms persist every day, disappear completely for some days or even worsen from time to time, Dr Netravathi M, professor of neurology, MS specialist, explained.

RBI'S STRONG CAUTION ON GOVERNANCE GAPS IN BANKS

The annual audit of banks by the RBI, called risk-based supervision in bankers' parlance, has thrown up some startling revelations. Assuming a more proactive role, the central bank has flagged attempts by some lenders to hide bad loans and artificially boost their financial performance using smart accounting practices. This comes close on the heels of a good quarterly performance by banks, with the cumulative profit of PSU banks for the fiscal crossing the ₹1-lakh-crore mark for the first time. Stock prices of most banks have seen a steady rise in the recent past as the banking sector gives an impression of being stable with a good capital-to-risk asset ratio, falling bad loans, and a healthy provision coverage ratio.

At a conference of bank directors, RBI governor Shaktikanta Das raised concerns about some new practices that undermine the rules of the book. According to him, there are instances of good borrowers being persuaded to enter structured deals with the bank's existing borrowers who are in financial stress, with the sole aim of concealing the bank's potential bad loans. In some cases, there have been instances of internally rejigging repayment obligations of the borrower and renewing old loans or disbursing additional credit to save the stressed customer.

RBI has also underlined new methods that have replaced the old practice of evergreening (advancing additional funds to borrowers to keep their old loans standard). Simultaneously, it has raised concerns over some boards being heavily influenced by their CEOs. Das has insisted the chairperson is like the captain of a ship, and the CEO needs to function under the board's guidance—this has reminded many of the Yes Bank fiasco in 2020.

The governance gaps RBI pointed out are a big cause for worry. Though the names of erring banks have not been revealed, RBI will likely slap a penalty soon. In a country rocked by banking scams and frauds in the past, we cannot afford to face an organised con act by banks themselves. Auditors must ensure that banks do their financial reporting most transparently and prudently. Let us hope that RBI will not force a special review of banks' books, like the asset quality review of 2016 when skeletons tumbled out of their closets. As Das said, the board of directors should always be on their toes and put an end to all aggressive accounting practices. Prevention is better than cure.

TOWARDS A STURDY NAVIGATION SAT SYSTEM

The Geostationary Satellite Launch Vehicle (GSLV)-F12 launched on Monday from Sriharikota to release the first of five planned second-generation navigation satellites (navsats)—NVS-01. This is under the Navigation with Indian Constellation (NavIC) programme of the Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO)—the first step to usher in more advanced and accurate navigation satellite-aided GPS services for civilian users in road transport, aviation and maritime sectors. GPS services help ground-based users to know their precise location and routes to destinations on their mobile phones based on signals delivered by the navsat constellation in space. The services also come in handy for tracking the movement of goods and vehicles, improving efficiency in various sectors for timely deliveries.

The new constellation of navsats is meant to replace the first-generation ones—Indian Regional Navigation Satellite System (IRNSS)-1A to IRNSS-1I—launched between 2013 and 2018. Several IRNSS-1 series satellites stopped functioning due to the failure of the onboard Rubidium atomic clocks, which enable near real-time positional data. Besides, the satellites outlived their mission lives. This led users to depend on the US GPS. But the new NVS series of navsats, with corrected space-qualified Rubidium atomic clocks, will replace their first-generation ones, starting with NVS-01. The indigenously developed and newly installed atomic clocks for the NVS series may provide better positional accuracy and enhanced real-time efficiency in delivering location data to ground-based users. Besides, each NVS satellite is expected to have a 12-year mission life.

Of particular note is that the NVS series of navsats—including NVS-01—will carry navigation payloads in the L1, L5 and S bands to enable the satellites to offer GPS data with more accuracy. The L1 navigation band is popular for providing civilian users with position, navigation and timing services. Its signals penetrate clouds, rain, storms, fog and vegetation. Besides, it offers interoperability with existing global navigation satellite systems of the USA, Russia, European Union and China. Their signals extend up to 1,500 km around the Indian mainland.

ISRO plans to make this service global, free and independent. For this, the space agency needs to ensure the four remaining NVS satellites (NVS-02 to NVS-05) are launched with minimum intervening periods so the optimal benefits of the entire functional constellation reach Indian users earlier than later.

QUICK TAKE

VICTIMS OF JILTED LOVE

Love affairs are among the top reasons for young women's murders in India. Monday's gruesome killing of a Delhi girl by a jilted youth is the latest example. That nobody came to her aid is shameful. Such vengeful actions take time to build up, and perhaps the girl lacked the courage to seek help. Delhi Police initiated Operation Nirbheek some time ago by setting up post boxes at schools and public centres where girls could discreetly drop in their complaints. It has worked on occasions but needs consistent campaigning to encourage girls to seek help at the first hint of danger.

Rather than banning the movie, it must be judicially scanned and analysed in terms of modern jurisprudence

THE KERALA STORY: NOT A CASE FOR TOTAL BAN

KALEESWARAM RAJ

Lawyer, Supreme Court of India. Appeared for an intervenor in the case on The Kerala Story

The Supreme Court, by its order issued on May 18, has stayed the ban on The Kerala Story imposed by the West Bengal government. The SC directed the Government of Tamil Nadu to take steps to ensure that the theatres showing the film and those who watch the film are given protection. At the same time, the SC has decided to address the larger issues involved in the matter and posted the case for consideration after the summer vacation.

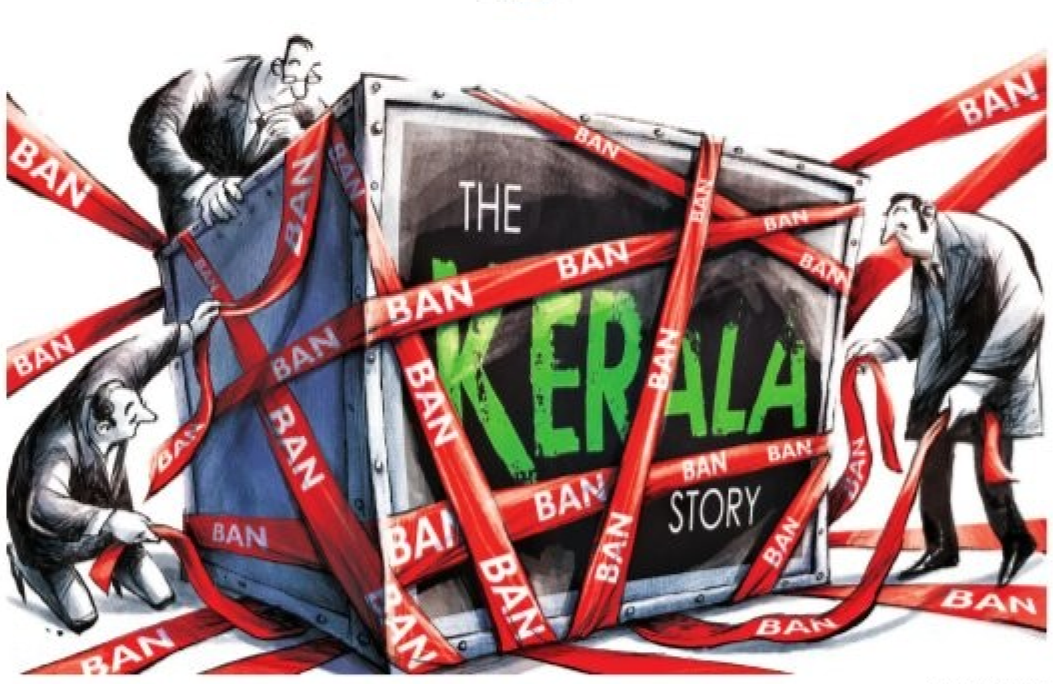
Every case on hate speech could lead to questions of free speech. If an artistic work is an instance of hate speech or a hate crime, will it cease to be so because it is a work of art? Is there a higher level of freedom under Article 19(1)(a) of the Constitution for a piece of literature or a work of art? Can the parameters for the certification of a film be judicially determined by a constitutional court? Is it sensible to ban a movie merely because it is criticised? All these questions might arise for consideration in The Kerala Story case.

Kapil Sibal has highlighted certain political dimensions of the movie (TNIE, May 29). To me, what is needed is further scrutiny of the film and not a total ban. No doubt, the derogatory and divisive contents of the work should be expunged. For doing so, the court may have to enumerate the institutional failures of the Central Board of Film Certification (CBFC). This might be possible if a committee constituted by the SC examines the movie. The Bombay High Court has done a similar exercise in the case of Jolly LLB-2.

Let us now come to the film. It is a horrific experience to watch it. It can create and perpetuate feelings of hostility and vengeance in the minds of viewers. It negates the very idea of religious harmony and constitutional fraternity by spreading afflictive emotions. Many of the dialogues and scenes are intrinsically divisive. It dehumanises the viewer immensely.

Yet the CBFC certified the film for public exhibition by invoking Section 5A of the Cinematograph Act, 1952. In some cases, petitioners have challenged this very certification. By the time the SC finally considers this case, the movie in its present form will be watched by many. The case will, nevertheless, pose significant constitutional questions.

The SC considered the issue of institutional failure in protecting the Babri Masjid in S R Bommai (1994). It addressed a strange situation where certain state governments ruled by the BJP were abetting the karsevaks' demolition drive. Bommai was a classic case which, among other things, dealt with the question of institutional failure leading to State-sponsored lawlessness.



SOUMYADIP SINHA

The SC deprecated the actions of the respective state governments in strong words, though after a long lapse of time. By the time Bommai was finally decided, the governments had changed and there was no direct impact of the verdict on any of the governments.

One can draw a parallel between the situation noted in Bommai and the institutional assistance now extended to the propaganda film. The CBFC as well as the Union government permitted the film for public exhibition, though they were bound to examine if the movie breached the boundaries of public order, decency, or morality. Such an exercise had to be done as per Section 5B of the Cinematograph Act. As per Rule 32 of the Cinematograph (Certification) Rules, if the certification is questioned by anyone, the CBFC and the Central government are duty-bound to consider if the decision to permit the exhibition of the movie requires re-examination.

In the case at hand, neither the Centre nor the CBFC has chosen to do so. On the other hand, the Prime Minister and certain other top leaders in the Central government have openly praised the 'message' of the movie. The BJP governments in Haryana, Uttar Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh and Uttarakhand have exempted the movie from entertainment tax, thereby encouraging its reach.

It is this situation that revives the Bommai moment, but just with a different tone and tenor. In the situation in Bommai, it was the physical violence that the state governments abetted. In the present case, it is the emotional violence and the tendency to create hostility among various groups that are sponsored by the State. Thus, the divisive character of the hate campaign in the movie could be more pernicious than the demolition of the mosque.

Even in the 20th century, propaganda films were created with an aim to spread the idea of the wickedness of "the other". The hatred towards the Jews in Nazi Germany was consciously manufactured and perpetuated during Hitler's regime. Movies like Triumph of the Will (1935) and The Eternal Jew (1940) exemplify this.

But modern constitutional democracies have evolved clear jurisprudence on hate speech and hate crimes. Countries like Canada have a codified law against hate speech. The Indian Penal Code criminalises actions which create communal disharmony. The SC has explained the aspects of hate speech which are either actionable or deplorable. The judgments in cases like Pravasi Bhalai Sangathan (2014), Kodungallur Film Society (2018) and Amish Devgan (2020) are examples.

Therefore, The Kerala Story will have to be analysed in terms of this modern jurisprudence. Ultimately, litigation may not be the proper means to tackle the menace of hate speech. In a seminal work, Hate: Why We Should Resist It With Free Speech, Not Censorship (Oxford University Press, 2018), Nadine Strossen underlines the need to oppose hate speech by counter speech motivated by constitutional ethos.

Therefore, rather than banning the movie as such, The Kerala Story needs to be judicially scanned. This can be used as an opportunity to tell the truth to the public, as Kerala has demonstrated. The state has not banned the movie. Yet, it was not at all a box office success in Kerala. On the other hand, films like 2018 which artistically showcased the solidarity of the Malayalis during the troubled times of the floods received massive support and appreciation. This has been a constitutional praxis by the people at large, outside the court.

HOW ONE AI IMAGE SHOOK THE STOCK MARKET

KAJAL BASU

Veteran journalist

Unbeknownst to us all, a significant AI event has slipped by. An AI-generated photograph purported to be of an explosion in the Pentagon went viral via Twitter after it first appeared on Facebook. Then, again, you might ask, "So what?", and you might well think: "Big deal!" AI-generated images have lately been inundating the internet—and most of them are still unpolished or contextually inaccurate enough to be detected, even by the untutored masses, for the fakery that they are.

But this image of one of the world's most famous buildings ignited and wreathed in dark smoke was not as benign as, say, the one of Pope Francis wearing a quilted Balenciaga coat, and was much more maligning than the images of former US president Donald Trump being arrested.

For the first time in AI's controversial, ongoing Bildungsroman Odyssey, an image that it generated has had a real-world consequence. If a barebones AI can alter the bourses, a more polished avatar—there are several already churning away as we speak—can potentially bring them down, with catastrophic repercussions.

The appearance of the image was well-timed. It hit the viral jackpot almost immediately after the US stock market opened for trading at 9.30 am.

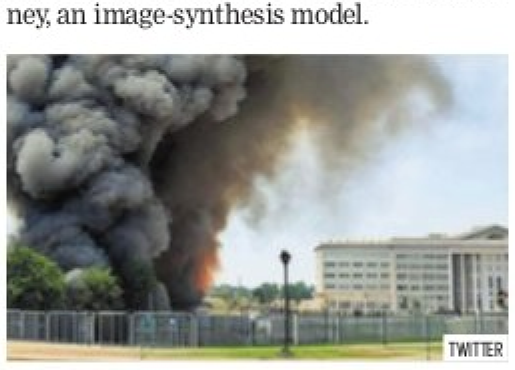
Within four minutes, according to The Washington Post, the Dow Jones Industrial Index dropped 85 points, and the S&P 500 fell by about 0.3% to a session low.

CNN reported that the "Dow Jones Industrial Average fell about 80 points between 10.06 am and 10.10 am, fully recovering by 10.13 am. Similarly, the broader S&P 500 went from up 0.02% at 10.06 am to down 0.15% at 10.09 am. By 10.11 am, the index was positive again."

It was the briefest of collapses, but trading in today's world happens lightning-quick and mostly without the intervention of human agency. The market's fear was palpable and all-encompassing. US treasury bonds briefly shot up and gold prices began to skitter upwards. Clearly, investors had begun to look elsewhere—somewhere safer, perhaps—to park their monies. In the world of trading, the kneejerk is king. Fortunes rise and fall in seconds.

Both Dow Jones and S&P regained their equanimity quickly enough after the Pentagon Force Protection Agency (PFPA) rubbished the explosion rumours. But, by then, it could no longer be hidden that AI had made its first foray into the volatile world of global economics—and succeeded in showing the market's vulnerable underbelly in stark, high-intensity neon.

The image's effect might have been understandable had it been polished and photorealistic. But it was deeply flawed, with imperfections ranging from out-of-focus railings to the building's weak resemblance to the Pentagon. That a low-grade AI project—a shallowfake as opposed to a deepfake—could do such immediate real-world damage leaves open the question about what AI fabrications might do when they inevitably become barely distinguishable from real life. As is already happening. The sloppy Pentagon fake was probably generated by a model-generator like Stable Diffusion, which can run locally in a computer sequestered from the internet. The Pope in Balenciaga and Trump's arrest were created using the latest version 5 of Midjourney, an image-synthesis model.



TWITTER

> The appearance of the image was well-timed. It hit the viral jackpot almost immediately after the US stock market opened for trading

But this fake image could not have impacted the stock market had its split-second reaction rate been absent, or even a bit slower. "A lot of these moves are happening because of high frequency trading, algorithmic trading, which is basically taking headlines, synthesising them and then breaking them into a trade on a millisecond basis," said Adam Kobeissi, editor-in-chief of The Kobeissi Letter, an industry publication. The market is automated, he said. This means that it is designed to be affected by.. everything. "It's basically like you're pulling a trigger every time a headline comes out," Kobeissi added.

This is exactly what happened. Social media amplifies and spreads these "headlines". While the original source of the Pentagon image is not traceable with any certainty, the fake news was traced back to 'CBKNEWS', a right-wing QAnon account dedicated to spreading disinformation. Popping up on Facebook, it made the jump to Twitter and appeared in a now-suspended blue-tick account named 'Bloomberg Feed' (which has no relation to Bloomberg News). This spread the impression that a mainstream US-based news portal had legitimated the incident. The tweet was taken up by other accounts unaffiliated with Bloomberg, such as 'Walter Bloomberg' and 'Breaking Market News'.

Cyabra, "a social threat intelligence company", that had, commissioned by Elon Musk, found that spambot accounts comprised 11% of Twitter's user base—confirmed that of the approximately 3,785 accounts that had mentioned the fake pic, dozens were verified.

After greeting the impact of the fake with initial perplexity, the Western news media promptly got down to the business of excoriating Russia-controlled news networks such as RT (formerly Russia Today) and Zero Hedge for spreading the fake news despite both of them taking down their tweets as soon as the Pentagon tweeted its corrective.

OSINTdefender, a Twitter page that focuses on news about international military conflicts and has more than 339,000 followers, also shared the fake photo. Its tweet racked up 341,700 views.

Today, after a whitewash of breathtaking legerdemain, you'll barely find a reference in the Western media to the QAnon origin of the image—leave alone an analysis of why the very same fake news, targeted at the very same entity, should be common to both right-wing and left-wing sites and social media accounts. I have not read a half-decent media report on, leave aside analysis of, growing intersectional political radicalism.

This event of significance has likely taken some wind out of the sails of the stock market's optimism about AI (primarily its predictive quality). Goldman Sachs has estimated that within a decade of its adoption, generative AI could increase productivity that might lead to a 4% rise in profit margins in S&P 500 companies.

For a bad fake to send the stock market into a panic must be galling.

CSK wins

It was interesting to watch the IPL final between Chennai Super Kings and Gujarat Titans. It was great to see Dhoni's CSK lifting the IPL cup at Narendra Modi stadium. Although Dhoni was not in his original form, his presence as captain infused his team with positive energy.

Apropos of Shocking police action against wrestlers at Jantar Mantar (May 30). The late and irresponsible action of the sports ministry led to an ugly scene of disrespect towards wrestlers by the Delhi Police. Ironically, this happened on the day of the new Parliament building's inauguration. The wrestlers marching towards the building was a provocative act. Let us hope that better sense prevails on both sides.

Sengol's meaning

The wrestlers have been agitating for a month but the Union government is not considering their demands. Protecting those who are accused of sexual harassment projects a bad image of the country. All this while the Sengol, which stands for justice in ruling, is handed over to the Prime Minister.

Cong demands high-level probe into Manipur riots

Submits memorandum demanding steps to rehabilitate all those displaced by violence

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

A Congress delegation, led by party chief Mallikarjun Kharge, met President Droupadi Murmu on Tuesday and sought a high-level inquiry into the ethnic violence in Manipur. The 12-point charter of demands submitted by the party called for immediate restoration of peace, harmony and normalcy in the state.

"The Union government must immediately take all possible measures to control and confine all militant groups and ensure that all armed civilian groups be stopped forthwith by taking appropriate action," it said.

The memorandum also said that the Centre should take steps for the rehabilitation of all displaced persons. "The letter and spirit of the existing Constitutional provisions related to the state of Manipur must be protected and the trust between communities should be restored through reconciliation and dialogue," it said.

The signatories to the memorandum include KC Venugopal, Mukul Wasnik, Bhaktacharan Das, OkramIbobi Singh, Meghachandra Singh, Gaikhangham, and Thokechom Lokeshwar Singh.

Expressing concern over the ongoing violence, the memorandum pointed out that things have turned from bad to worse over the last 27 days with large-scale destruction of property and livelihoods. "Nearly 45,000 people are sheltered in relief camps in different parts of the state with substantial contributions from the civil society and public. There are allegations that the large-scale arson is an attempt at ethnic cleansing and there have also been sinister attempts to turn the ethnic conflict into a communal clash with the targeting of churches and a few temples," it said.

Meanwhile, TMC chief Mamata Banerjee sought the Centre's permission to visit Manipur.

11 sportspersons may return awards

Guwahati: Manipur's 11 sports personalities on Tuesday threatened to return awards they had won if the Centre fails to fulfill their eight-point charter of demands pertaining to ethnic violence. They demanded revocation of the suspension of operation agreement signed with the Kuki groups. In a memorandum to Home minister Amit Shah, they urged the Centre to protect Manipur's integrity.

NCERT omits reference to Khalistan in class XII political science book

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

THE reference to 'Khalistan' and 'separate Sikh nation' has now been dropped from the class XII political science textbook by the NCERT.

The revisions were made following a letter from the top Sikh body, the Shiromani Gurdwara Parbandhak Committee (SGPC), and representations from other stakeholders on withdrawing "objectionable" content against the "Sikh community by misrepresenting Sri Anandpur Sahib Resolution."

The National Council of Educational Research and Training (NCERT) said following the representations regarding withdrawing the "objectionable content" a committee of experts was constituted to examine the issue.

The Committee examined the same and as per its recommendation, the changes have been incorporated in Chapter VIII-Regional aspirations (rationalized class XIII political science textbook - pg 123.

The NCERT said, "From the last sentence of the third paragraph under the sub-heading 'Punjab' the line'...'but it could also be interpreted as a plea for a separate Sikh nation' is dropped. Just before this line, the given statement has now been rewritten as 'The Resolution was a plea for strengthening federalism in India.'

In the same section (Subheading 'Punjab'), from the last sentence of the fourth paragraph, '... 'and the creation of Khalistan' is dropped," NCERT said in an official statement.

Last month, SGPC chief Harjinder Singh Dhami had said that the NCERT has recorded "misleading information" about the Anandpur Sahib resolution in Chapter-8, Regional Aspirations, of its book 'Politics In India Since Independence.' He said this has hurt the sentiments of the community.

"A corrigendum has been issued by NCERT. While the physical books for the new academic session have already been printed," Kumar added.

The Anandpur Sahib resolution was a document adopted by the Shiromani Akali Dal in 1973. The resolution affirmed the party's commitment to the Sikh religion and demanded greater autonomy for Punjab.

It also demanded that the city of Chandigarh should be handed over to Punjab and that Punjabi should be given second-language status in neighbouring states. Dropping several topics and portions from the NCERT textbooks had last month triggered a controversy with the Opposition blaming the Centre of "whitewashing with vengeance".

Among the references that were dropped from class XII history textbook were portions on Mahatma Gandhi and how his pursuit of Hindu-Muslim unity "provoked Hindu extremists", and on a ban on the RSS.

'11 states account for 85% of school dropouts'

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

UTTAR PRADESH and Bihar have the maximum high school dropout rates, with 11 states in total contributing to 85 percent of school dropouts. This translates to 30 lakh Class 10 students in these states, namely Uttar Pradesh, Bihar, Madhya Pradesh, Gujarat, and Tamil Nadu, not completing their education. Additionally, Rajasthan, Karnataka, Assam, West Bengal, Haryana, and Chhattisgarh also have alarming records of dropout rates among Class 10 students.

The dropout rate for Class 12 students is 77 percent, accounting for 18 lakh students in Uttar Pradesh, Bihar, Madhya Pradesh, Karnataka, Andhra Pradesh, Tamil Nadu, Telangana, West Bengal, Maharashtra, Kerala, and Gujarat. These findings were revealed by the Union Education Ministry, which assessed the challenges faced by students in Class 10 and 12 exam board results across different states.

One of the challenges highlighted by the ministry is the significant variations in performance among students belonging to different boards. Moreover, there are substantial discrepancies in pass percentages, lack of a level playing field in terms of educational standards and mobility across panels, and barriers for national-level entrance tests such as JEE, CUET, and NEET due to the different syllabi followed by state boards.

The study revealed that although girls outperform boys, parents' preference for education and expenditure is still biased towards boys in Classes 10 and 12. The report stated, "Thirty-five lakh students of Class 10 are not proceeding to Class 11, 27.5 lakh students fail, and 7.5 lakh students don't appear for the exam."

PIL seeks 2-yr cooling-off period for retd judges before accepting political roles

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

WITH a view to upholding the independence of judiciary and rule of law, Bombay Lawyers Association has approached the Supreme Court seeking two-year cooling-off period before retired apex court or high court judges accept a political appointment.

Referring to the recent appointment of former judge Abdul Nazeer as Andhra Pradesh Governor, the plea states that from the actions of the executive it seems that there is no likelihood of them bringing any law prescribing "cooling-off period". "An independent judiciary is responsible for upholding the rule of law which is considered a prerequisite for a democratic form of government. That is why the independence of the judiciary has been declared as part of the basic structure of the Constitution. Hence, the acceptance of political appointments by judges of the Supreme Court and the high courts after retirement without any cooling-off period is adversely affecting public perception about the independence of the judiciary. The objective of the separation of power appears to be defeated if judges of constitutional courts accept political appointment just after their retirement," the plea stated.

The body of lawyers in the plea, as an interim measure during the pendency of the petition, has urged the top court to request the retiring judges to not accept any appointment voluntarily for a period of two years. It has been stated in the plea that there although might not be "any actual quid pro quo" between the judge receiving post retirement political position and the executive, this "erodes the public confidence in the independence of judiciary".

China grants 60k visas to Indians so far this yr; mostly for tourism, biz

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

CHINA has issued 60,000 visas to Indians since the beginning of 2023. "In the first five months of this year, the Chinese Embassy and Consulates General have issued over 60,000 visas to Indian traveling to China for business, education, tourism, family reunion and work," said Wang Xianjian, the Chinese spokesperson in India.

Earlier in March, the Chinese Embassy had issued a notification stating that Chinesevisas issued before March 28th, 2020 (pre-Covid times) and the remaining valid period would be reactivated.

"The Chinese Embassy and Consulates General in India will resume issuing various types of Chinese visas. Port visa authorities will also resume giving port visas, and visa exemption policies in some areas will be reactivated," the Chinese Embassy had said. China had been closed to visitors for three years since the onset of the pandemic. The worst impacted were Indian students who returned when the pandemic began but weren't issued visas for the longest time.

Indian students, mostly studying medicine across various universities in China, had to keep making pleas to be granted visas as their studies were getting impacted.

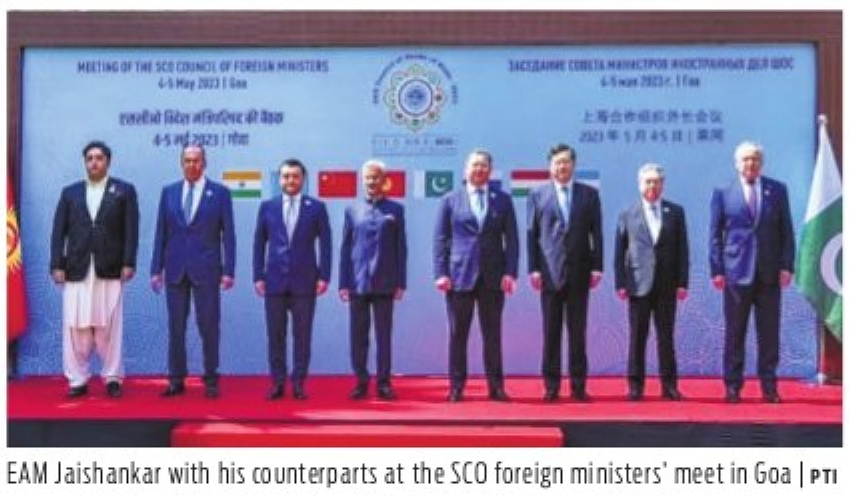
Indian students were among the last to be considered by China for the granting of visas. A lot of requests by the Indian government and Indian students finally led to students rejoining their universities to complete their degrees.

Ministry of External Affairs spokesperson Arindam Bagchi on April 6 said that India hopes that the Chinese authorities would facilitate Indian journalists' continued presence and reporting from China after reports came up where visas of two Indian journalists in China were frozen.

Speaking to mediapersons, Bagchi said, "We have Chinese journalists who have valid Indian visas for pursuing journalistic activities (in India). I don't see any limitations or difficulties in reporting and doing media coverage.

India to host SCO summit virtually on July 4

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi



MEETING OF THE SCO COUNCIL OF FOREIGN MINISTERS
4-5 May 2023 | Goa

EAM Jaishankar with his counterparts at the SCO foreign ministers' meet in Goa | PTI

IN what is seen as a U-turn, India will host the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO) Summit virtually on July 4. The summit will be anchored by PM Narendra Modi.

India has hosted a total of 134 meetings and events under its SCO chairmanship, which includes 14 ministerial-level meetings, and most of them have been in-person meetings.

The most recent was the SCO foreign ministers' meet in Goa, which, among other things, caught the attention on account of participation of Pakistan's foreign minister Bilawal Bhutto Zardari.

Though the exact reasons aren't known for the decision to host this summit virtually, sources said India had kept the option of having a virtual SCO Summit as it was close to the G20 Summit in September for which preparations are under way. Rastrapathi Bhawan was being considered as the venue for the SCO Summit – in nearly the same format as the G20 Foreign Ministers' meeting held in March this year.

"The SCO Summit, chaired by Prime Minister Narendra Modi is the 22nd summit of the SCO council of heads of states. All SCO member states – China, Russia, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Pakistan, Tajikistan and Uzbekistan – have been invited to attend the summit.

In addition, Iran, Belarus and Mongolia have been invited as observer states. As per SCO tradition, Turkmenistan has also been invited as the guest of the chair. Heads of the two SCO Bodies – the Secretariat and the SCO RATS – will also be present. Further, Heads of six international and regional organisations have also been invited, viz. UN, ASEAN, CIS, CSTO, EAEU and CICA," according to the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA).

President of Russian Federation Vladimir Putin Chinese Premier Xi Jingping and Pakistan's Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif are expected to take part in this summit. The theme of the summit is 'Towards a SECURE SCO'. The SECURE acronym was coined by the Prime Minister at the 2018 SCO Summit and stands for Security; Economy and Trade; Connectivity; Unity; Respect for Sovereignty and Territorial Integrity; and Environment.

4th attempt by leadership to defuse crisis

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

DESPITE the Congress high command's claims, the status of the strained relationship between CM Ashok Gehlot and former deputy CM Sachin Pilot in Rajasthan remains unclear. Following a high-level meeting in Delhi on Monday between Congress chief Mallikarjun Kharge, Rahul Gandhi and the two Rajasthan leaders, party general secretary KC Venugopal announced that the four-and-a-half-year-political feud between Gehlot and Pilot had been resolved.

However, the specific details of the reconciliation formula has not been made clear. While Pilot supporters maintain that, as before, the party high command has assured their leader of an important responsibility in the upcoming elections. Rumours have it that Pilot may be offered the post of party president or chief of the campaign committee. Political analysts question the validity of these claims, considering Pilot's body language after the meeting.

This meeting — 4th such attempt by the party brass — has also presented a significant dilemma for Pilot, as today marks the final day of the ultimatum he had issued to the Gehlot government to address three demands favouring the youth. If he maintains his stance, there is a risk of displeasing the high command. On the other hand, if he remains silent after his demands are not met, his image as a weak leader who succumbs to pressure will suffer.

However, on the last day of the ultimatum, Pilot will be visiting his constituency, Tonk. He will participate in a youth dialogue. Political experts will closely observe Pilot's attitude during the discussion with the youth, as it may have a significant impact on the future of the state's politics.

PM to address election rally in Ajmer today

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Jaipur

IN election-bound Rajasthan, Prime Minister Narendra Modi will address a public rally in Ajmer district on Wednesday. The rally is part of the celebration of the Modi government's completion of nine years at the Centre. The meeting comes months ahead of the assembly elections this year, followed by Lok Sabha polls the next year.

The visit will mark Modi's fourth trip to Rajasthan in a year. Observers say after the BJP's defeat in Karnataka Assembly elections, the party is doesn't want to take any risks.

In Rajasthan, the Congress and the BJP have taken turns to rule the state.

Another reason for Modi's increased activity in Rajasthan is to convey a message to several factions within the BJP. Ajmer is also a stronghold of Sachin Pilot, the current CM Ashok Gehlot's main opponent within Congress. Modi's rally would aim to strengthen BJP's influence among voters in Pilot's bastion.

SHINDE MOVE

Maha sops to farmers ahead of elections

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mumbai

AHEAD of elections in a few states, the Eknath Shinde-led Maharashtra government on Tuesday cleared a proposal offering Rs 6,000 to each eligible farmer annually under the Namo Shetkari Mahasaamana Yojana on the line of central government's PM Kisan Samman Yojana.

According to the cabinet note, under the Namo Shetkari Mahasamman scheme, eligible farmers, as per the Centre's beneficiaries list, will be offered ₹2,000 each after every four months. So, a total of ₹6,000 will be deposited in the bank account of each eligible beneficiary. The first installment will be deposited for April-July while the second one will come in August to cover up to November while the last installment will be released in December to cover up to March.

CM Eknath Shinde said all beneficiaries of the scheme will be eligible for Namo Shetkati Mahasamman scheme in the state. A senior official said 86,000 farmers are officially eligible for Namo Shetkari Mahasamman.

However, there are 12 lakh farmers who are yet to link their bank account to the Aadhar card and mobile number.

Breach in Shinde fort, 22 MLAs are unhappy: Saamana

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

SHIV Sena mouthpiece Saamana on Tuesday claimed that nine Lok Sabha MPs and 22 MLAs of Maharashtra Chief Minister Eknath Shinde's Shiv Sena are unhappy with the step-motherly treatment by the BJP and are planning to desert the Shinde-led group.

An article in the mouthpiece said that Uddhav Thackeray-led Shiv Sena "has self-respect; therefore it parted ways with the BJP (the ally of the Shinde faction)."

"The Shinde group's Lok Sabha MP Gajanan Kirtikar said he was unhappy with the BJP because of the step-motherly treatment given to many like him. The BJP has used the 'use and throw' policy. It means BJP has used Shinde's 40 MLAs and now wants to dump them," stated the article.

It further stated that MLAs in the Shinde-led Shiv Sena have lost confidence in BJP and are feeling that they can no longer stay with the BJP.

"It also proves that you cannot buy pride and self-respect," read the article.

The Thackeray-headed Shiv Sena exited the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) in 2019 and joined hands with the Congress and Nationalist Congress Party to form a government in Maharashtra.

"The Shinde-led Sena is demanding 22 Lok Sabha seats in the 2024 Lok Sabha elections, but the BJP is in no mood to concede. Therefore, there is unrest among the MLAs belonging to the Shinde faction," the article said.

After the Supreme Court verdict, the Shinde-led Sena's 16 MLAs and 13 Lok Sabha MPs are likely to get disqualified.

"Sooner than later, the BJP will desert these MLAs and MPs. The BJP had badly treated Uddhav and his party. The same feelings are now expressed by the Shinde-led Sena MPs and MLAs," the article said.

Targeting Deputy Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis, the article claimed he has become the "driver" of Chief Minister Eknath Shinde, which means all powers of the state government lie with the BJP leader.

Now, Samajwadi Party to make temple run?

As all political parties are getting into the poll mode in the run-up to the 2024 Lok Sabha elections, Samajwadi Party has planned to launch its campaign with a workers' training camp at prominent Hindu religious site, Naimisharanya in Sitapur district, 80 km from Lucknow. It will be a tryst with soft Hindutva for the Akhilesh Yadav-led party, which is perceived as the first choice of Muslim voters during the 2022 UP elections. The camp is likely to be held on June 9 and 10 to kickstart SP's campaign. Party chief Yadav and other senior party leaders will start the camp by performing a 'havan'.

Who will be the next state police chief?

As the state's acting police chief RK Vishwakarma is set to retire on today, the question that is again doing the rounds is whether the state will get a permanent DGP? Not since Mukul Goyal was removed from the post about a year ago, it has had two 'acting' police chiefs -- DS Chauhan and then Vishwakarma -- who the government didn't consider 'fit for the job'. Now, as Vishwakarma retires, Goyal again leads the seniority list, followed by Ananad Kumar and Vijay Kumar. They all have one-year tenure left. The question remains if government will consider any of them?

BHU 2nd in IIRF ranking; AMU 3rd after JNU

The Banaras Hindu University (BHU) has brought anther laurel to the state by being ranked second just behind Jawaharlal Nehru University (JNU) in the recently released Central university rankings of the Indian Institutional Ranking Framework (IIRF). The other university to figure just after BHU is Aligarh Muslim University. Another UP university has made it to the top-20 — Ambedkar University, Lucknow. BHU has missed the top position narrowly — by just 0.17 points. The IIRF ranking is based on several parameters including teaching, research quality and productivity.

On Day 2 in Manipur, Shah meets Meitei and Kuki groups

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

Union Home Minister Amit Shah and Manipur Chief Minister N Biren Singh attend a meeting with senior officials of the Manipur Police, CAPFs and the Indian Army in Imphal on Tuesday

HOME Minister Amit Shah, who is on a four-day visit to violence-hit Manipur, on Tuesday held a series of meetings with Meitei and Kuki groups to restore peace and normalcy in the state.

Soon after landing on Monday night, Shah got down to business by chairing a high-level meeting of state ministers and officials. One of the first decisions was to grant ₹10 lakh ex gratia to the kin on those killed in the clashes and a government job to one of the family members.

Shah began his second day in Manipur by meeting a group of Meitei women leaders, followed by subsequent meetings with civil society groups, intellectuals and student unions. Later, he visited the hill district of Churachandpur and held similar meetings with leaders from the Kuki community.

Ginza Vualzong, leader of Indigenous Tribal Leaders' Forum, said they demanded 'total separation' from Manipur and the imposition of President's rule as the law and order in the state has collapsed. During the meeting, Shah sought 15 days' time to set up committees that will work towards restoration of peace, he added.

Meanwhile, the Meitei leaders demanded appropriate measures for the protection of Manipur's territorial and administrative integrity and immediate abrogation of the Suspension of Operation agreement with Kuki insurgent groups allegedly involved in violence.

Later in the evening, Shah, along with Chief Minister N Biren Singh, held a security review meeting with senior officials. He also held an all-party meeting in Imphal.

On Wednesday, Shah will visit Moreh and Kangpokpi areas of Manipur.

ED raids dozen locations of J'khand Cong MLA, others

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

THE Enforcement Directorate on Tuesday conducted raids at a dozen locations linked to Congress MLA Pradeep Yadav and a few other real estate developers and contractors.

ED sources said the raids were being conducted on the basis of inputs provided by the Income Tax department following raids conducted by it earlier at the official and residential premises of the two Congress MLAs – Kumar Jaimangal and Pradeep Yadav -- in November last year.

The two agencies, IT and ED, had simultaneously carried raids at multiple locations in Jharkhand and Bengal in November last year. Kumar Jaimangal, who is into the coal trade, is under suspicion for tax evasion while Pradeep Yadav is said to have acquired landed properties in Godda and Ranchi which don't match with the income that he has revealed.

The ED on Tuesday conducted raids at four locations in Ranchi and eight locations in Deoghar, Godda and Dumka.

Double blow as family loses sole breadwinner to targeted killing

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

DEEPAK Kumar alias Deepu, who was shot dead by militants in South Kashmir on Monday, was the lone breadwinner of his family. His elder brother Raju is visually impaired and his father Mashu Ram has not been keeping well.

Deepak, who was working in a circus near Janglaat Mandi area in Anantnag district in south Kashmir, was expecting the first child in June. In a mindless act of targeted killing, the 27-year-old was shot by militants on Monday evening when he was out to buy milk from the market.

"Being visually impaired, I don't do any work. He was the lone bread earner of the family feeding us all — me, my wife, my two kids, our elderly parents and his wife," Raju said.

The poor family lives in a mud house in Udhampur village and Deepak was regularly sending money to the family every month to fulfill their expenses. "He was taking care of us all. He was bearing our medical expenses and operating cost of household chores," Raju said. Raju had talked to Deepak on phone the previous evening and he had told his brother that he would send money for the family on the first of next month.

"What was his fault? Why did they (militants) kill him? We were solely dependent on him for survival. They have snatched our sole bread earner. Now what will happen to us and how will we survive," he said.

A large number of people in his native Thial village of Udhampur attended his last journey. "The family is a very poor. Deepak was somehow managing the survival of his family but now that he has been killed by militants, the government should give the family compensation," the villagers said. The security agencies, meanwhile, have launched a massive manhunt to track down the killers of Deepak.

Farmers spray liquor on moong dal crop hoping for better harvest in MP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

Farmers mix 50 ml to 100 ml liquor with water and use it as pesticide spray

TO most of us it will sound utterly strange, but for the farmers in many villages of central Madhya Pradesh's Narmadapuram district, it's allegedly bearing fruits, despite having no scientific basis. Summer moong (pulses) farmers are using both desi (country-made) and Indian made foreign liquor (IMFL) as pesticide spray on their moong (pulses) cultivation presently.

Many villages in Pipariya and Sohagpur development blocks of Narmadapuram district are seeing farmers (particularly small and marginal farmers) use alcohol and water mixed spray as alternative to the costly chemical pesticide in their fields, on summer moong and turmeric cultivation.

In Nayakheda village, a small farmer Premshankar Patel, who owns two acres plot, is presently spraying his summer moong crop with water and alcohol spray. "Spraying chemical pesticide in the same plot with the moong cultivation costs me around ₹1,900, while using alcohol-water spray as pesticide on the same cultivation costs around ₹200-250. From the last three seasons, we're having better flowering and fruition."

In the adjoining Jamunia Randhir village, another farmer Jitendra Bhargava, who practices organic farming, terms the liquor-based pesticide use on summer moong cultivation, a part of organic farming. "I use cow urine based pesticide for wheat and paddy crops, while other farmers and I have been using liquor-based pesticide for the summer Moong to flower," he said.

Another farmer Ghasiram in Bichua village, says, "We're mixing 50 ml to 100 ml liquor with 10-15 litres of water and then using it as pesticide spray on moong cultivation."

The agricultural scientists at the state government operated Jawaharlal Nehru Agricultural University in Jabalpur, are baffled by this development. "We talked to our Entomology department experts, but none of them knew about any research study/findings that supports the cause. It seems that the farmers are doing it either out of confusion or false belief spread locally," Dr SB Agrawal, a senior scientist.

Scientists cut nicotine content from tobacco plant

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE World Health Organisation (WHO) says deaths due to tobacco consumption go up to around 8 million annually across the globe. The killer component in tobacco is 'nicotine' that leads to cancer, heart attack, impotence, and other health issues.

Despite being aware of the ill effects of tobacco, consumers often find it difficult to quit. Now, here is a research carried out by the scientists of Lucknow-based CSIR-Central Institute of Medicinal and Aromatic Plants (CIMAP), bringing some hope for those who really want to quit tobacco, however, fail to do so due to nicotine addiction.

The plant scientists at CIMAP, succeeded in reducing the nicotine content by 60-70% in Petit Havana Tobacco plant as compared to nicotine content in wild-type plants.

On the basis of their findings after a four year research, the CSIR-CIMAP team of scientists, comprising CIMAP director Dr P K Trivedi, research scholars Dr Deeksha Singh and Shambhavi Dwivedi, now plan to lower nicotine content in commercial varieties of tobacco plant used in cigarettes, cigars, beedi in order to mitigate the hazardous impact of nicotine on health and also to help people quit it gradually without severe withdrawal symptoms.

In fact, nicotine is a colourless or yellowish oily liquid present in tobacco plant leaves. It is addictive, toxic liquid chemical, the scientists point out.

According to CIMAP director Dr PK Trivedi, several studies have shown that zero nicotine products are proving to be futile as people who have been addicted to nicotine and want to quit tobacco, did not like them. "So the thought emerged to conduct a research focussed on lowering the nicotine content in tobacco plant to the extent that it becomes less harmful and could be quit gradually," he said.

Explaining further, Dr Trivedi says that there is a biosynthetic pathway for nicotine present in the root of the plant. Nicotine is first synthesized in the root tissue and transported to the leaves.

"Among several pathways, only one facilitates the biosynthesis of nicotine and if it is blocked, there will be zero nicotine in the leaves of the tobacco plant. On the other hand, instead of blocking, if the pathway is regulated, nicotine's production will be there but in reduced quantities at a slower pace," he adds.

Sharing the details of the technology used by the team of scientists to check and regulate nicotine content in tobacco plant, the CSIR-CIMAP director says: "A unique genome editing technology has been used in the research. Through this technology, scientists have edited parts of the genome by adding or altering sections of the DNA sequence. It is much faster, cheaper and more accurate than previous techniques of editing DNA."

Moreover, to acknowledge the feat of CIMP scientists, the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research (CSIR) , New Delhi, has made a video showing how the institute has successfully been able to lower nicotine in tobacco.

India is world's second-largest tobacco producer, hence, this achievement is expected to go a long way in benefitting the huge tobacco consuming population. On the occasion of World No Tobacco Day, observed on May 31, the feat is one step closer to reducing tobacco consumption.

'Nicotine content reduced by 60-70%'

The plant scientists at CIMAP, succeeded in reducing the nicotine content by 60-70% in Petit Havana Tobacco plant as compared to nicotine content in wild-type plants. They now plan to lower nicotine content in commercial varieties of tobacco plant used in cigarettes, cigars, beedi in order to mitigate the hazardous impact of nicotine on health and also to help people quit it gradually without severe withdrawal symptoms.

PUTIN SLAMS KYIV AS DRONES ATTACK MOSCOW'S BUILDINGS

Russian Def Ministry says five drones were shot down in the capital

KYIV

A rare drone attack jolted Moscow early Tuesday, causing only light damage but forcing evacuations as residential buildings were struck in the Russian capital for the first time in the war against Ukraine. The Kremlin, meanwhile, pursued its relentless bombardment of Kyiv with a third assault on the city in 24 hours. The Russian Defence Ministry said five drones were shot down in Moscow and the systems of three others were jammed, causing them to veer off course. President Vladimir Putin called it a "terrorist" act by Ukraine.

Putin said that Moscow's air defence had worked in a satisfactory manner, noting that the attacks were Kyiv's "response" to a Russian strike on Ukraine's army intelligence headquarters. He said Ukraine was trying to "frighten" Russians.

"We have spoken about hitting command centres (in Ukraine)," the Russian president said. "In response, the Kyiv regime has chosen a different path, the path of trying to frighten Russia, frighten the citizens of Russia and of strikes on residential buildings." While Putin claimed Tuesday's Kyiv attack was in response to Russia striking Ukraine's military intelligence headquarters days earlier, Andrii Cherniak, a Ukrainian intelligence representative, said the Kremlin's forces failed to hit the building because its missiles were shot down.

The attack, while causing only what Moscow Mayor Sergei Sobyanin said was "insignificant damage" to several buildings, brought the war home to civilians in Moscow.

Two persons received treatment for unspecified injuries but did not need hospitalisation, he said, adding that residents of two high-rise buildings were evacuated. Ukraine made no direct comment on the attack. Meanwhile, Ukrainian officials said Tuesday's predawn air raid on Kyiv killed at least one person, wounded 11 others and sent residents scrambling into shelters again. At least 20 Shahed drones were destroyed by air defence forces in Kyiv in the latest attack. Overall, Ukraine shot down 29 of 31 drones, mostly in the Kyiv area, air force said.

US says does not support attacks inside Russia

Stockholm: The United States said on Tuesday that it does not back attacks inside Russia, but said Russia bore responsibility for the war with Ukraine. "As a general matter, we do not support attacks inside of Russia. We have been focused on providing Ukraine with the equipment and training they need to retake their own sovereign territory," a State Department spokesperson said as Secretary of State Antony Blinken visited Sweden.

Court backs same-sex marriage, says govt's policy is unconstitutional

TOKYO

A Japanese court ruled on Tuesday that the government's policy against same-sex marriage is unconstitutional, in a closely watched decision that supporters say is a step toward marriage equality.

The Nagoya District Court in central Japan, however, rejected a request by a male couple that the government pay them $7,100 each in compensation for the unequal treatment they face because the current system does not recognise them as legally married.

The ruling is the second that found that the government's denial of same-sex marriage violates the constitution, while two other decisions did not. The rulings can be appealed to the Supreme Court.

In his ruling, Judge Osamu Nishimura said the current system that excludes same-sex couples with no legal protection for their relationship is unconstitutional and there is no room for government discretion, Kyodo News reported.

Supporters cheered outside the court, waving rainbow flags and holding signs saying, "Another step toward marriage equality."

Asato Yamada, a lawyer for the plaintiffs, said the court's ruling said clearly that not allowing same-sex marriage violates the guarantee of equal rights under Article 14 of the constitution, and that Article 24 provides freedom to marry by not specifying a prohibition on same-sex marriage. "It's a major step toward achieving marriage equality," he said.

"The judicial branch, on behalf of the rights of minorities, raised its voice and it will be a strong message to the government," he said. "The message is that the government should resolve problem immediately."

Japan is the only member of the G7 industrialised countries that does not recognise same-sex marriage.

India extends $1 bn credit line to SL for another year

COLOMBO

INDIA on Tuesday extended its underutilised $1 billion credit line to Sri Lanka for another year to help the island nation hit hard by an unprecedented economic crisis procure much-needed food, medicine and other essential items.

An agreement was signed between the State Bank of India (SBI) and the Sri Lankan government for $1 billion credit facility in March last year. India extended the credit line to Sri Lanka at the height of the country's economic crisis.

"India reaffirms its commitment to the people of Sri Lanka. The Amendment Agreement signed in presence of Honourable Minister @ShehanSema today will enable Sri Lanka to use the $1 billion Indian credit facility for the procurement of medicine, food, and other essentials for one more year," the Indian High Commission in Sri Lanka tweeted.

"Beyond the original duration, that is, till March 2024. The facility was extended by India through @TheOfficialSBI in response to a specific request from GOSL and forms a part of the multi-pronged assistance of $4 billion provided by India last year," it said.

Since last year, the credit facility has been used for urgent procurement of fuel, medicine, food items and industrial raw materials, as per the requirements and priorities of Sri Lanka.

"The signing of the agreement to extend the $1000 million assistance scheme for the import of essential materials for a further period of one year was done today. The officials of the State Bank of India participated the event virtually," State Minister of Finance Shehan Semasinghe tweeted.

Meanwhile, Sri Lanka announced on Tuesday that it has commenced the preliminary work to resume the abandoned Japan-funded Light Rail Transit (LRT) project. The cabinet approved President Ranil Wickremesinghe's proposal to resume the project.

CHINA TOWN TENSE AFTER CLASHES OVER MOSQUE RAZING

Najiaying Mosque

BEIJING

CHINA deployed hundreds of police and made arrests in a mostly Muslim southwestern town after clashes erupted over the planned partial demolition of a mosque.

The town of Nagu, Yunnan province, recently pushed ahead with plans to raze four minarets and the dome roof of the Najiaying Mosque.

The area is home to a sizable enclave of Hui, a predominantly Muslim ethnic group who have come under pressure in the face of a broad crackdown.

On Saturday, dozens of officers wielding truncheons and riot shields repelled a crowd outside the mosque that was hurling objects at them, videos circulating on social media and the witness said.

Police have made an unspecified number of arrests over the incident and several hundred officers remained in the town as of Monday. People in areas around the mosque had struggled intermittently with internet outages and other connectivity issues since the clashes.

A notice issued Sunday by the Tonghai government—which administers Nagu—said it had opened an investigation into "a case that severely disrupted social management and order." The notice ordered those involved to "immediately stop all illegal and criminal acts," vowing to "severely punish" anyone who refuses to turn themselves in.

Those who voluntarily surrender before June 6 will be treated with leniency, the notice added. Contacted by AFP on Tuesday, an official in Tonghai's publicity department denied the internet outages, but declined to comment further.

Elsewhere, Xi's government has demolished mosques or removed domes, minarets and other distinctive Muslim features to transform them into nondescript, Chinese-style buildings.

‘Growth momentum to continue in current fiscal’

RBI annual report says sound policies, softer inflation to aid growth

SACHIN KUMAR @Mumbai

GROWTH-INFLATION DYNAMICS

6.5% RBI's projection for real GDP growth for FY24

5.2% RBI's projection for CPI inflation for FY24

6.7% Average CPI inflation for 2022-23

6.5% Repo rate was left unchanged by the RBI in April

4.7% CPI inflation eased to an 18-month low in Apirl

The country's growth momentum is likely to sustain in 2023-24 with inflation expected to ease, supported by global and domestic factors, said the Reserve Bank of India in its latest Annual Report released on Tuesday.

Retail inflation, which averaged 6.7% in the previous fiscal, is expected to cool down to 5.2% in the current financial year, as per the central bank.

"On the back of sound macroeconomic policies, softer commodity prices, a robust financial sector, a healthy corporate sector, continued fiscal policy thrust on quality of government expenditure, and new growth opportunities stemming from global realignment of supply chains, India's growth momentum is likely to be sustained in 2023-24 in an atmosphere of easing inflationary pressures," noted the report. Softer global commodity and food prices, good rabi crop prospects, the government's continued thrust on capex, higher capacity utilisation in manufacturing, double-digit credit growth, receding drag on purchasing power from high inflation and rising optimism among businesses and consumers will support country's economic growth in the current fiscal. RBI expects 6.5% real GDP growth for 2023-24.

The risks to inflation have moderated with downward corrections in global commodity and food prices and easing of the pass-through from high input cost pressures of last year, as per the RBI. "The cumulative rise in policy repo rate by 250 bps last year would steer the disinflationary process, along with supply side measures to address transient demand-supply mismatch due to food and energy shocks," it added.

The RBI has rased policy repo rate by 250 bps during 2022-23 from 4% to 6.5%.

Indian economy is expected to have recorded a growth of 7% in real gross domestic product (GDP) in 2022-23, which will help attract more foreign capital. "The favourable domestic growth outlook, lower inflation, and business-friendly policy reforms could, however, help sustain buoyant FDI inflows," said RBI.

"With a stable exchange rate and a normal monsoon - unless an El Nino event strikes - the inflation trajectory is expected to move down over 2023-24, with headline inflation edging down to 5.2% from the average level of 6.7% recorded last year," the report said. Meanwhile, income of RBI rose 47% to ₹2.36 lakh crore in the previous financial year as against ₹1.6 lakh crore in 2021-22.

Bank fraud value down 50%, cases go up

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

WITH the growing reach of financial services in the country, the number of frauds in the banking system has also increased.

The number of bank frauds has increased 48% to 13,530 in the previous financial year, according to RBI's Annual Report. A total of 9,097 frauds had taken place in 2021-22.

However, the value of frauds has plunged by 50% to ₹30,252 crore in 2022-23 as compared to the ₹59,819 crore in 2021-22. In 2020-21, the number of frauds was 7,338 and amount involved was ₹1,32,389 crore.

"An assessment of bank group-wise fraud cases over the last three years indicates that while private sector banks reported maximum number of frauds, public sector banks continued to contribute maximum to the fraud amount during 2022-23," according to the the report.

Frauds occurred predominantly in the category of digital payments (card/internet), in terms of number, added the report.

"While small value card/internet frauds contributed maximum to the number of frauds reported by the private sector banks, the frauds in public sector banks were mainly in loan portfolio," the RBI said.

According to the central bank report frauds reported in a year could have occurred several years prior to the year of reporting.

During 2022-23, while public sector banks reported 3,405 frauds involving ₹21,125 crore, private banks reported 8,932 cases involving ₹8,727 crore. The rest were from foreign banks, financial institutions, small finance banks, and payment banks.

As per the data, 95% or ₹28,792 crore of the total ₹30,252 crore was reported in cases related to loans (advances).

The central bank also said an analysis of the vintage of frauds reported during 2021-22 and 2022-23 shows a significant time-lag between the date of occurrence of a fraud and its detection.

The amount involved in frauds that occurred in previous financial years formed 93.7% of the frauds reported in 2021-22 in terms of value.

The report said there was a 55% decline in the amount involved in the total frauds reported during 2021-22 over 2020-21.

Similarly, 94.5% of the frauds reported in 2022-23 by value occurred in previous financial years.

The central bank said amounts involved reported do not reflect the amount of loss incurred. Depending on recoveries, the loss incurred gets reduced.

Further, the entire amount involved is not necessarily diverted. The central bank said it would be taking more steps to check fraud in the banking sector.

WILL PATIENTLY KEEP ULTRA-EASY POLICY: BOJ

Kazuo Ueda, Bank of Japan (BOJ) Governor, on Tuesday said the central bank will patiently maintain its ultra-loose monetary policy. Downplaying expectations for a policy change in the near term, he said there is some distance to sustainably achieve its 2% inflation target. As per Ueda, inflation will slow below 2% toward the middle of the current fiscal year and it is likely to rebound thereafter as there is high uncertainty on the outlook. He said a likely big rise in pay in this year's annual wage negotiations could help shake off Japan's deflationary mindset. The comments from the BOJ chief came as markets speculated that Ueda will soon start to phase out his predecessor's stimulus to address the mounting side effects of prolonged easing.

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Bengaluru

Go First lessors' request to repossess aircraft on hold, not rejected: DGCA

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

AVIATION regulator DGCA on Tuesday said Go First airline's lessors' request to repossess planes has been put on hold but not been rejected.

The Directorate General of Civil Aviation's (DGCA) stance regarding the lessors' effort to take back their planes comes despite a 2001 global treaty, the Cape Town Convention, to protect repossession rights.

The regulator said local laws "prevail over provisions of any international treaty that India is a signatory to". It noted that it is not processing lessors' request as local bankruptcy imposes a freeze on airline's assets for the time being. Go First, which stopped flying on May 3, was granted bankruptcy protection on May 10. The cash-strapped airline on Tuesday said it extended its flight cancellation until June 4, 2023, due to 'operational reasons'. Last week, the DGCA gave a month's time to Go First to submit a restructuring or revival plan for resuming operations. The company's top executives are said to have discussed the revival plans with DGCA officials in Delhi on Monday.

Several lessors have moved the Delhi high court, seeking to de-register their aircraft leased with the now-grounded Go First. They have claimed that it is illegitimate for the regulator to deny deregistration.

Aircraft lessors - Pembroke Aircraft Leasing 11 Ltd, SMBC Aviation Capital Ltd, Accipiter Investments Aircraft 2 Ltd and EOS Aviation 12 (Ireland) Ltd - on Friday moved the high court after NCLAT upheld NCLT decision seeking to take back their planes. In a hearing on Tuesday, the NCLT-appointed Interim Resolution Professional (IRP), tasked with managing the crisis-hit Go First, told the court that returning aircraft to the lessors will render the airline, which has 7,000 employees to look after, "dead".

As global crude prices fall, private oil retailers cut petrol, diesel prices by ₹1

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

AS the crude price in the international market softened, private oil companies have started selling petrol and diesel at cheaper prices than state-owned companies.

Rosneft-backed Nayara Energy, India's largest private fuel retailer, on Tuesday announced selling petrol and diesel ₹1 less than the fuel sold by petrol pumps of Indian Oil Corporation (IOC), Bharat Petroleum Corporation Ltd (BPCL) and Hindustan Petroleum Corporation Ltd (HPCL).

This announcement came after Jio-bp started selling superior grade diesel ₹1 per litre cheaper than normal or regular grade diesel sold by other companies. However, Jio-bp reduced only prices of diesel, Nayara is selling both diesel and petrol at rates below state-owned firms. "We are extending a discounted price on both petrol and diesel for a limited duration, while ensuring that our customers continue to experience the renowned quality and quantity they have come to expect from us," said Madhur Taneja, Nayara's chief marketing officer. Meanwhile, HPCL, BPCL and IOCL continue to hold prices despite a drop in international rates. The companies have kept unchanged for a record 14th month in a row as they recoup the losses suffered last year. Brent Crude Future, the benchmark of crude price in the international market, was trading at $74.02 a barrel at 7.11 pm IST.

In India, Nayara Energy has 6000+ petrol pumps spread across the length and breadth of the country and over 1,200 petrol pumps in various stages of commissioning. It plans to have a solid network of 8200+ petrol pumps by 2024.

Myanmar Port write-off hits Adani Port PAT

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA'S largest private port operator Adani Ports and Special Economic Zone on Tuesday reported a 5% year-on-year jump in net profit at ₹1,159 crore for the quarter ending March 31, 2023, even as its revenue from operations rose 40% to ₹5,797 crore in Q4FY23 as against ₹4,141 crore in Q4FY22.

"FY23 and Q4FY23 PAT factors in a write-off of ₹1,273 crore on account of sale of Myanmar asset; EBITDA excludes the impact of forex mark-to-market gain or loss and FY22 EBITDA excludes one-time transaction cost of ₹210 crore for SRCPL/GPL," the firm said.

IT hardware PLI to penalise investment shortfall

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

THE revised IT hardware production-linked incentive (PLI) scheme has introduced a penalty of 5-10% for companies that fall short of their declared manufacturing target and also ceiling for incentives.

Besides that, the applicants will have to use firmware for servers from Indian sources or other trusted foreign sources as certified by the Indian government. The government on Tuesday notified the second phase of the ₹17,000 production-linked incentive (PLI) scheme for large electronics and invited applications for the same.

As per the notification, the global firms will have to invest at least ₹500 crore, and hybrid and domestic companies will have to invest ₹250 crore and ₹20 crore, respectively, in the span of six years to be eligible for incentives under the scheme. The target segment includes laptops, tablets, All-in-One PCs, servers and Ultra Small Form Factor (USFF). The companies will get an incentive of about 5% for localisation of items. The applicant will localise printed circuit board assembly (PCBA) during the first year and thereon at least one component or sub-assembly need to be added every year from the bouquet of optional components or sub-assemblies provided.

The government had introduced PLI for IT hardware introduced in March 2020. The budget outlay for the first scheme was ₹7,350 crore, and the government had offered incentives ranging from 4% to 1%. The incentive per company will be applicable on net incremental sales of manufactured goods (covered under the Target Segment) over base year, subject to ceiling of ₹4,500 crore for global companies, ₹2,250 Crore for Hybrid (global/domestic) companies and ₹500 crore for domestic companies.

It has provision for a penalty of 5% from payable PLI amount if there is a shortfall in investment amount by 25%-50% during a year and a penalty of 10% if the shortfall is over 50%.

More Indian start-ups face valuation cuts; Byju's marked down by 62%

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

Start-up valuation markdown

Byju's valuation slashed to $8.4 billion

Vanguard Group cuts Ola's valuation by 35%

Fidelity Investments slashes fair value of Meesho by 9.7%

Edtech firm Eruditus' valuation was cut by 9%

Invesco slashes food delivery firm Swiggy's valuation by 33%

AMID gloomy economic scenario, investors have slashed valuation of several start-ups yet again. After reducing the valuation of Byju's in April, BlackRock, the US-based firm, has again slashed the valuation of the edtech company to about $8.4 billion, about 62% cut.

BlackRock is a minority investor in Byju's and this comes at a time when the edtech company is yet to file its FY22 results with the Ministry of Corporate Affairs (MCA).

Byju's recently raised $250 million in a fresh funding round and investment firm Davidson Kempner has invested in the company.

The fund-raising announcement came a few days after the Enforcement Directorate (ED) conducted searches and seizure action at the premises of the edtech major under the provisions of Foreign Exchange Management Act (FEMA).

Another US-based investor Fidelity Investments has cut the fair value of Meesho by 9.7% and this makes the valuation of Meesho at nearly $4.4 billion.

Last month, Meesho said it is on track to achieve EBITDA breakeven this year and has logged 120 million average monthly active users in 2022.

Backed by Marquee investors, including Fidelity, Softbank, Prosus, Meta, B Capital, Sequoia Capital and Elevation, the ecommerce marketplace has raised about $1.1 billion in funding till date and has a cash buffer of about $400 million.

Meesho's CFO Dhiresh Bansal had said over the last few quarters, the company has seen rising traction with users across the country flocking to the platform.

"With economies of scale kicking in and our strong focus on profitable growth, we are very close to becoming EBITDA positive. Our key business differentiators such as an asset-light business model have proven to be effective levers in this journey," he had said.

US-based asset management companies have been slashing valuation of Indian start-ups amid growing macroeconomic challenges.

Just a few days ago, US-based Baron Capital had marked down food delivery company Swiggy's valuation by another 10%.

"The correction in the global economy and inflationary trend made investors go slow world over including India. Investors lost value due to a drop in valuation and it is yet to pick up," said Anil Joshi, Managing Partner, Unicorn India Ventures.

Fidelity cuts Meesho valuation by 9.7%

US-based investor Fidelity Investments has cut fair value of Meesho by 9.7% and this makes valuation of Meesho at $4.4 billion. Last month, Meesho said it is on track to achieve EBITDA breakeven this year and has logged 120 million average monthly active users in 2022.

Kumble dismayed by manhandling of wrestlers

Former India cricketer Anil Kumble said he is "dismayed" by the treatment meted out to the protesting wrestlers at Jantar Mantar. "Dismayed to hear about what transpired on the 28th of May with our wrestlers being manhandled. Anything can be resolved through proper dialogue. Hoping for a resolution at the earliest," tweeted Kumble, the fourth-highest wicket-taker in Test cricket, on Tuesday.

Wrestlers may have to compete under neutral flag in Worlds, Asiad

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

THE Ranking Series scheduled to begin on Thursday in Bishkek, Kyrgyzstan and U23 & 17 Asian Championships in the same city commencing on June 10 could be Indian wrestlers' last international events under the tri-colour. A statement issued by the United World Wrestling (UWW) on the ongoing crisis in Indian wrestling at least suggests so.

"UWW will request further information about the next elective general assembly from the Indian Olympic Association (IOA) and Ad-hoc Committee of the Wrestling Federation of India (WFI). The 45-day deadline that was initially set to hold this elective assembly shall be respected. Failing to do so may lead UWW to suspend the federation, thereby forcing the athletes to compete under a neutral flag," read the statement issued by the UWW on Tuesday.

Notably, IOA on April 27 formed a two-member ad-hoc committee to manage the affairs of the WFI in the wake of wrestlers' protest. The IOA also said that it will appoint a retired High Court judge to the ad-hoc committee for a fair and transparent election. However, the IOA has yet not made the appointment, which could have marked the beginning of the election process. A 45-day deadline was set for elections at the time. A month has already passed and it's almost impossible to hold elections by the given deadline as a minimum 21-day notice will be required to call an annual general meeting for the polls.

The year will witness high-profile events like World Championships, which will also be a qualifier for the 2024 Paris Olympics and Asian Games. Apart from these tournaments, the Indian wrestlers are also scheduled to compete in the U20 & 15 Asian Championships and another Ranking Series scheduled in Budapest, Hungary in July. However, in the absence of the elected body, the Indian wrestlers will be left with no option but to compete under the neutral flag. The UWW also expressed concerns over the treatment meted out to protesting wrestlers wherein they were dragged and shoved while marching towards new Parliament on Sunday before being detained. The Delhi police also registered FIRs against the wrestlers under various sections of the IPC and PDPP Acts.

"The events of these last days are even more worrying that the wrestlers were arrested and temporarily detained by the police for initiating a march of protest. The site where they had been protesting for more than a month has also been cleared out by the authorities. UWW firmly condemns the treatment and detention of the wrestlers. It expresses its disappointment over the lack of results of the investigations so far."

The UWW through the statement assured that it will hold a meeting with the wrestlers.

HOW CHENNAI MASTERED THE 2023 SEASON

Managing individuals, role clarity and multiple players performing small but key roles reasons behind franchise's fifth IPL title

GOMESH S @ Ahmedabad

MS Dhoni is waving his hand, signalling the Chennai Super Kings players to come around. It's 1.50 AM on Tuesday, about 20 minutes since Ravindra Jadeja sealed the fifth IPL title for CSK.

The players are spread around the ground, doing their obligatory interviews with broadcasters and the streaming platforms. Some of them are even on the opposite end of the ground. Now, watching this unfold from a bird's eye view at the opposite end of the stands, it makes one wonder what's Dhoni going to say to them, is he going to say what everyone's been presuming? However, it was for something else.

The IPL trophy was in front of them and the name of the franchise was being engraved on it. Dhoni wanted the team, especially the youngsters, to be there to see it. In front of him is a camera, capturing the whole thing. As his teammates cheer on from behind with the trophy next to him, an emotional Dhoni signed 'Mahi' on the camera before walking away. If there ever was a perfect moment to sign off from someone's career, irrespective of their profession, it would be just like this. Drop the marker and walk into the sunset.

But Dhoni, who has given farewells to several Indian legends when he was captain, is not one for having a perfect signing off for himself. His international retirements say as much. It would be too "convenient" as he admitted later in a chat with Harsha Bhogle. The roar when he uttered the word 'but'. After that sentence around 2.50 AM, thousands of fans, at least more than half of those who had turned up, let out a roar. "But the tough thing for me is to work hard for another nine months and come back and play at least one more season of IPL. But a lot depends on the body, I have six-seven months to decide and it will be more like a gift from my side [to the fans]. It's not easy for me but the way they've shown their love and affection, that's something I need to do for them," he said.

For someone who has often treated the sport as just another job, this year was different. He admitted welling up with tears when walking out to packed stadiums chanting his name. That is why, this win is different and perhaps even meant a little bit more. With four needed off the final delivery, Dhoni could be seen with his eyes closed, and apparently so was head coach Stephen Fleming who was preparing for yet another "heartbreak".

When Jadeja got them home, Dhoni broke into a smile, hugged and clapped. You would think that this is regular Dhoni stuff. But as Jadeja did his Imran Tahir-like celebration and eventually came towards him, Dhoni literally lifted him like a father would lift a child. It is hard to remember the last time Dhoni lifted any player after a triumph. He buried his face in Jadeja's shoulders as the duo cherished the moment that will stay with them forever. This win was indeed special, because unlike the past, CSK did not have things going their way from the moment this tournament began. "Getting our players of the injury list and into competitive cricket is a challenge and we are not alone, all of teams had injuries. You need a big squad, it is a tough tournament and we really got by the skin and bones to start with it... we had some holes throughout and we were patching up to be as competitive as we could be when the chips were down," Fleming said.

If they were handling injuries on one sides, managing individuals was on the other. Jadeja himself felt bad for the crowd wanting him to get out just to see Dhoni bat. Shivam Dube wasn't firing initially. Ambati Rayudu had made no impact despite being an impact player throughout the season. Then, Ajinkya Rahane who hadn't sustained the momentum. However, the team management made sure they were not under pressure and knew their roles and were backed to the hilt.

Come the big day, the four rose to the occasion. Josh Little? Rahane will hit two sixes. Rashid Khan? Don't bother? Rahane and Dube clobbered him. The southpaw hit consecutive sixes off the spinner's last two deliveries to change the tide. Mohit Sharma? Rayudu was there, wielding his willow for the very last time at this level. A first-ball Dhoni duck? Jadeja will take them home. If you'd asked anyone before the final, these four names might not be on the top of their list to do it for Chennai against Titans' bowling attack. And yet they did, which sums CSK as a franchise and what makes them successful.

Almost 42, Dhoni might decide on his future in the months to come, but that is for later.

Right now, if you asked them what this means to them and the answer would be unanimous. "We dedicate this victory to one of the (most) special members of our team. MS Dhoni. So yeah, this is for him," as Jadeja said.

PRAYERS AFTER MIRACLE WIN

A day after the victory, CSK camp visited TTD temple in Chennai with the trophy on Tuesday. N Srinivasan (above, centre), vice-chairman and MD of CSK's principal sponsor India Cements, was thrilled with the win and spoke to CSK captain MS Dhoni in the morning over the phone and congratulated him and the rest of the CSK team. "Fantastic captain (Dhoni). You have done a miracle. Only you can do it. We are proud of the boys and team," Srinivasan told Dhoni. Srinivasan invited him to come to Chennai with the CSK team for a get-together to celebrate the victory.

THE CREAM OF CROP

With the 16th edition of the Indian Premier League (IPL) done and dusted, a look at our Team of the Year.

SHUBMAN GILL

M: 17 | Runs: 890 | SR:157.8

The heir to the throne announced himself in fine style adding multiple attacking elements to an already full bow. Has shown he possesses additional gears in the shortest format. A coming of age season.

YASHASVI JAISWAL

M: 14 | Runs: 625 | SR: 163.61

A monster season where he emerged out of Jos Buttler's shadow. That he became the designated power-play pace hitter speaks volumes about how his game has grown. Has possibly overtaken Ishan Kishan in the white-ball scheme of things.

SURYAKUMAR YADAV

M: 16 | Runs: 605 | SRL 181.13

After an indifferent start, took charge of Mumbai's late season dash into the play-offs. Remained as innovative as ever in some of his shot-selections and probably played two all-time great IPL knocks within a span of four days.

GLENN MAXWELL

M: 14 | Runs 400 | SR: 183.48

Was the third musketeer in the Bangalore top-order and took down spin more often than not. Will perform a not dissimilar role in this side.

SHIVAM DUBE

M: 16 | Runs: 418 | SR: 158.33

This place was a toss-up between Rinku Singh or him but Dube just about won this place in the end. The middle-order thrust he provided enabled Chennai to set above-par totals or chase them down.

MS DHONI (CAPTAIN)

M: 16 | Runs 104 | SR: 182.45

Didn't trust himself a lot with the bat but still showed his immense six-hitting skills against pace from time to time, with 57% of all his runs this year coming in sixes.

RASHID KHAN

M: 17 | Wkts: 28 | Avg: 20.4 | Runs: 130 | SR: 216.6

Was more expensive than in previous years but picked up a lot of wickets, a fair trade off. Unlike the Gujarat team, we trust him as our primary all-rounder.

MOHAMMED SHAMI

M: 17 | Wkts: 28 | Avg: 18.64

Was a menace with the new ball through the campaign and will do likewise here. He takes all sorts of wickets, can move it both ways and is the most principal bowling asset.

VARUN CHAKRAVARTHY

M: 14 | Wkts: 20 | Avg: 21.45

Has rediscovered his mojo and comfortably outbowled colleague Sunil Narine. A spinner operating in the powerplay opens up multiple bowling combinations in different phases.

MOHAMMED SIRAJ

M: 14 | Wkts: 19 | Avg: 19.78

Has evolved into an all phase operator this season and, like Shami, can take wickets with the new ball. Opening the bowling with Shami, a lot of teams may find the going tough.

MATHEESHA PATHIRANA

M: 12 | Wkts: 19 | Avg: 19.5 | Runs: 2

The team's Impact Player when bowling second, the Sri Lankan came and immediately brought a semblance of control in the bowling department. That he operates exclusively in the back-end is an advantage.

IMPACT PLAYER WHEN BATTING

HEINRICH KLASSEN

M: 12 | Runs: 448 | SR: 177.07

In a forgettable Hyderabad campaign, was a jewel. The way he attacked spin through the middle was a joy to behold. Will be a force to reckon with next season.

SQUAD MEMBERS: Rinku Singh, Mohit Sharma, Piyush Chawla, Ravindra Jadeja, Faf du Plessis, Jitesh Sharma

BATTER OF FINAL

Sudharsan says fearless method propelled him

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @ Chennai

IT was a case of so near yet so far for Gujarat Titans as they lost the IPL final by five wickets to Chennai Super Kings on Tuesday. Batting first, Gujarat posted 214 for 4 in 20 overs with B Sai Sudharsan making 96 and Wriddhiman Saha scoring 54 runs. Any score of 200-plus in a final of a T20 game is challenging and Gujarat, too, expected that this target would be enough. But it was not to be. Due to rain, the revised target was 171 in 15 overs and this was achieved by CSK in dramatic fashion.

B Sai Sudharsan

''We thought batting first we should put a challenging total on the board. So the plan was that the openers should give a good start and then the middle order should consolidate,'' said Sai Sudharsan to this daily from Ahmedabad. "Luckily, Saha and Gill (Shubman) gave us a good start and then I was able to put some runs on the board. We felt that 200-plus in a final would be challenging and were expecting our bowlers to put pressure on the CSK batters," added the 21-year old.

None expected Sai Sudharsan to play the way he did and he surprised all with his brilliant strokeplay and sense of timing. ''Before the game, our coaches told me not to concede too many dot balls and play my natural game and express myself freely without any fear. I did not plan my innings, I just had a feel of the surface and played to the merit of the ball. After spending some time, the flow came naturally and I could manage to post some runs for the team."

After rain, the play was stopped and the revised target too was a tough one and the game went down to the wire.

"We knew that nothing is easy in a final and we thought if our bowlers would put pressure and get wickets at regular intervals we stood a chance to win. CSK batters were making some useful contributions. In the last over, we thought Mohit Sharma would deliver for us, as he was one the most experienced bowlers in the team. We had hoped even mid-way through the final over and we never expected Jadeja to dash our hopes by scoring a six and four off the last two deliveries," he said.

Silent Indian Olympic body cuts a sorry figure

FLIPSIDE

INDRANEEL DAS

THE Indian Olympic Association (IOA), sports ministry and the Sports Authority of India (SAI) seem to have no answer to the wrestling mess. The top wrestlers — Olympic medalists Bajrang Punia and Sakshi Malik and multiple worlds medallist Vinesh Phogat — are continuing with their protest after a horror Sunday when they were shoved and dragged out of Jantar Mantar by the Delhi police. The wrestlers went to Haridwar to immerse their medals in the Ganges on Tuesday, a gesture that can be considered as one of the worst moments in Indian sports. They were acting out of desperation after their demand to arrest sidelined Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) chief Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh fell on deaf ears even after FIRs including one under POCSO Act were filed.

Amid all this, what's most baffling is the lack of communication from the IOA once again. The sports organisation whose ultimate goal is to protect the rights of the athlete is indifferent to players' plight. That the sports ministry and the SAI would toe the government line is understood but an 'independent organisation' like the IOA should be more responsible and rise above politics. The sports ministry and the IOA should have ended the agitation in January but they kept on bungling. The WFI could have been dissolved and fresh elections called in February itself. That IOA had to wait for the ministry to write to them to form an ad-hoc committee and hold elections put them in poor light.

The IOA president, who had visited the protest site last month to lend support to the protesting wrestlers, is once again silent. The acting CEO, who is supposed to speak, is silent too. The Athletes' Commission seem ornamental. Other members are also inactive. The IOA doesn't even have an official spokesperson. The UWW has said that WFI could face a ban if the elections are not held within 45 days as promised. The IOA has not even named a returning officer who would conduct the elections. It is understood that the IOC has already sent a letter on wrestling and sought IOA's response at the latest.

Just to refresh the memory, the IOA formed an ad-hoc committee to look into the affairs of the WFI on April 27 after the sports ministry had written to them. The IOA-appointed Bhupender Singh Bajwa and national shooting coach Suma Shirur. Bajwa is Wushu Federation of India chief who has also been named as the chef de mission for Asian Games to be held in September-October this year. Bajwa is expected to be busy with entries and other logistical issues for the Asiad. Shirur, the national rifle coach, is with the senior shooting team that keeps training and competing abroad. She has hardly been present during meetings either.

Even here the IOA seemed to have erred. What seems interesting is that the IOA could not find any other person to be part of the panel from its vast number of members.

A BRAND NEW STORY

Deepika Padukone, Alia Bhatt, Priyanka Chopra and Anushka Sharma have made heads turn with their intl presence. Experts on why global luxury brands are showing a keen interest in featuring Indian faces...

MONIKA MONALISA

IT was a big deal for the Indian community when Bengaluru hudugi Deepika Padukone was on the billboards as the face of the French global brand, Louis Vuitton. Most recently, she was featured in the global campaign of Cartier. Alia Bhatt, who starred in the Telugu blockbuster RRR, became the first Indian global ambassador for Gucci. City-girl Anushka Sharma also debuted at the Cannes Film Festival for her brand endorsement. Indian actors with a south Indian connection have been head-turners on global platforms in recent times.

Fashion guru Prasad Bidapa, who has closely worked with Padukone and Sharma, says both the girls have it in them to be where they are today. "Deepika Padukone's trajectory to becoming an international superstar is defined by the super luxury brands in her kitty, as we say in Bollywood! From Louis Vuitton, arguably the world's top luxury brand, to iconic jewellery brand Cartier – Deepika fits the bill. Brands like Levi's and Adidas, Pottery Barn and now even Qatar Airways pitch Deepika as their global ambassador, recognising her ability to connect with a global audience. She definitely adds lustre to the city's international status," says Bidapa, who had trained Sharma during her modelling days.

If we are speaking about Indian ladies making the right noises, how can we forget Priyanka Chopra, who was the first Indian woman to be the face of the fashion brand, Guess, in 2013. Now PC, who started her acting career with the Tamil movie Thamizhan, is a common face alongside Anne Hathaway and Zendaya promoting luxury brand Bvlgari. City-based model Sangeetha Ramesh points out that Chopra's presence in the international scene surely brought a lot of attention to the Indian market. "She might have started it all, since we had few supermodels, in the international space, but definitely after her, a lot of attention has come to the Indian market. Not just luxury brands, the west's interest in Indian faces have gone up. For example, we have Indian actors in shows like Bridgerton," says Ramesh.

Prasad Bidapa

When it comes to the luxury market, it's not all about beauty. According to brand guru Harish Bijoor, there is a huge strategy in terms of marketing. "International luxury brands have a penchant for the different and the exotic. India is both. Indian actors are really representative icons that define this. In addition, India is a brand new brand story. It is a market waiting to lap up luxury products and services. A popular Indian face on a luxury brand is imperative to use. For the Indian consumer, it means recognition, reliability and a pull," explains Bijoor.

These actors are not just promoting the brand but are also representing the country. Bia Sandhu Taneja, an image stylist, says the best thing to carry on global platforms is confidence. "Be it Deepika Padukone or Priyanka Chopra, their body language has always represented what's on their minds. And this is the confidence that brands are looking for," says Sandhu Taneja.

Dermatologist advises skin care routines

Dr Deepthi TN, a dermatology consultant at Kinder Hospital, offered advise on the effective ways to select face masks and explained that different types of masks cater to specific skin concerns. Sheet masks, made of cotton, fibre, or gels, provide a protective layer that enhances the absorption of serums and active ingredients. Dr Deepthi recommends hyaluronic acid and bio-cellulose masks for dry skin, salicylic acid for oily skin, and fragrance-free, hypoallergenic masks for sensitive skin.

Ahead of the FMSCI Indian National Motorcycle Racing Championship 2023, this city-based racing wunderkind speaks to CE about his preparation for his first pro season

ON THE FAST TRACK

DESE GOWDA

"THOSE who can, do, those who can't, talk about it." These were the words of broadcasting legend Murray Walker in reference to motorsports in general. But perhaps it better applies to motorcycle racing. A convergence of adrenaline, skill and much bravado, motorcycle racing is not only an exciting sport, but is among the most dangerous ones. But for anyone looking at 12-year-old Shreyas Hareesh's racing record so far, the sport would seem like a cakewalk.

Currently preparing for the upcoming FMSCI Indian National Motorcycle Racing championship (FMSCI-INMRC) – the premier racing championship in the country – Bengaluru-based Hareesh's achievements in a span of just four years are beyond impressive – the first Indian MiniGP champion, and runner-up in rookie class at the FMSCI-INMRC 2022.

Despite his age, Hareesh's success at the rookie category in the previous season of MSCI-INMRC meant he has earned a promotion to the pro-stock category for this season. Rather than being intimidated by the prospect of racing against experienced riders, Hareesh exudes a quiet confidence. "I'm confident about racing in pro stock, because I always looked up to racing against the big boys. Having waited so long, it's now finally time. I'm hoping it will be a good place to learn at," he adds.

In preparation for the season, Hareesh underwent a rigorous training programme in Valencia, Spain. Once the training finished, Hareesh father Hareesh Parandhaman decided to enter him into a round of the MiniVelocity Spanish Cup earlier this month. Amid initial apprehensions from Hareesh's trainer, he was entered into the race as wild card and with a rental bike. Despite a strong qualifying, he was relegated into last place following grid penalties (his rental bike didn't meet homologated standards). Nevertheless, the Bengaluru youngster managed to outpace much of the Spanish riders in the two races that weekend, climbing back to take P5 and P4 positions, respectively.

Ahead of the first round of FMSCI-INMRC at Tamil Nadu (round 1 in Coimbatore and Chennai) this weekend, Hareesh believes his experience in Valencia will come in handy. "The training in Spain helped me improve my riding technique, both in body position and braking. Also the Valencia race weekend helped me sample the level of competition internationally. Now I'll be able to practise at the same level. I'm expecting a challenging championship since I will be up against some of the best in the category. But I am hoping I will be able to apply my training and learn," he shares.

One of the key strengths that has made Hareesh such a force through his career has to do with his skill under braking. An aggressive style that helps him take lines that his competitors struggle to emulate has allowed him to scythe through the field during races. "I grew up believing that a rider's technique is what makes them fast rather than the bike. So I try to give my best every time I'm on the track, but I think I perform better during races when I'm most under pressure," he concludes.

Ahead of their European tour, the city's Indo jazz band MoonArra, share their anticipation, B'luru's zeal for jazz and more

GIANT STEPS

TUNIR BISWAS

CITY-based Indo jazz band MoonArra is going on a tour of Europe, their first since the pandemic and their longest one yet. During the month-long trip from June 1 to June 28, the musical act will tour multiple European countries and do a total of 12 concerts and four workshops. "We had gotten an invitation to perform in Hungary in 2020 for the Pannonhalma Jazz Summer Festival but couldn't make it once Covid hit. So, we have been ready for a European tour since then. We got invitations from other countries as well, and that's why we decided to make a tour out of it. We will be going to Sweden, Germany, Austria, Italy and Hungary. We are greatly looking forward to it," shares Jagadeesh Ramanujam Mudambi, the band's founder, composer and guitarist.

The band members, who collaborate with various musicians across the globe, feel it is all about opening the idea of Indo jazz to the world. "Usually in each country, we first do rehearsals for a day or two with international artistes. We send the songs beforehand. Then we go back and forth and discuss the composition. There's a lot of spontaneity involved in the process, just like jazz. In our live shows, we improvise a lot as it is the core of jazz and is the core of what we do," he says.

Having founded the band in Bengaluru back in 2006, Mudambi says the city is one of the most culturally vibrant places in the country. "We constantly see many younger folks showing up at our concerts. That is always nice to see as jazz is quite a mature form of music, so you don't really expect a young crowd. Outside of performing, I have organised many jazz festivals as well, and there has always been an audience for jazz, and it has been steadily growing over the years," says Mudambi.

Being an Indo jazz band, one of their early inspirations has been the fusion band Shakti, which started fusing jazz with Indian classical influences in the '70s. Apart from their upcoming tour, the band is working on a new album as well. "We are continuing to work on our album, which we started during the pandemic. We will also be recording new songs during our tour, especially in Austria, Sweden and Hungary. We expect to release it by this year's end," says Mudambi.

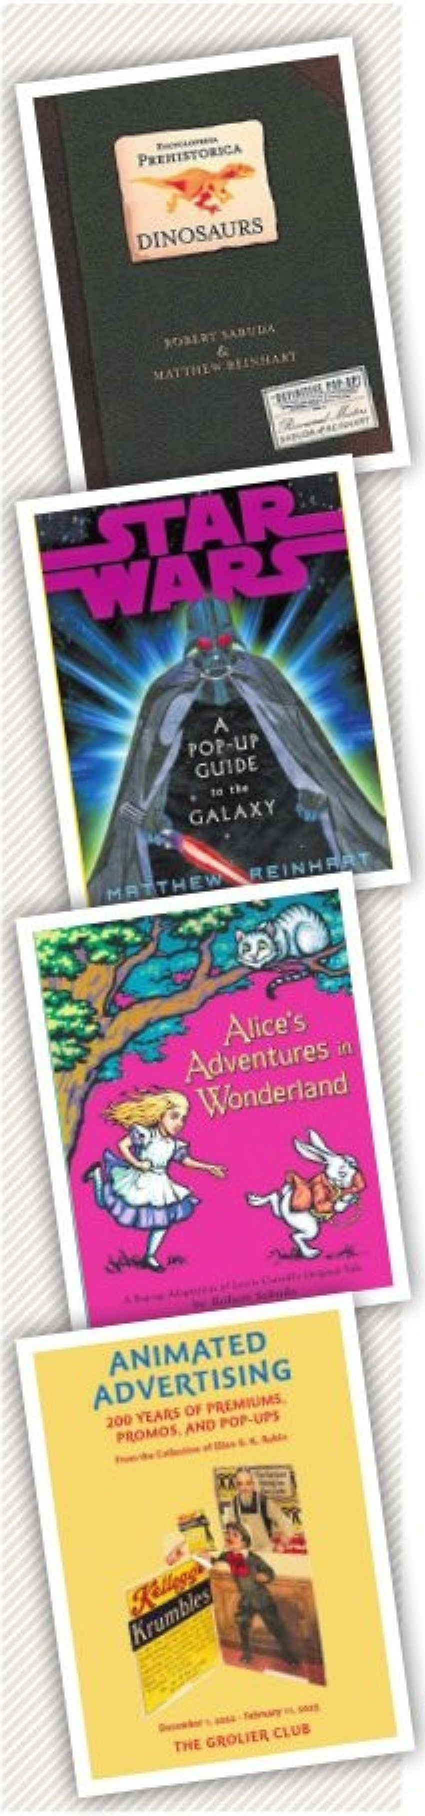
A PAINSTAKING FEAT OF ENGINEERING

FLYLEAF

VR Ferose

(The author is a technologist based in Silicon Valley who is gently mad about books)



There are engineers, and there is the paper engineer – a rare breed that uses tools like scissors, paper, glue and knives to make pop-up books. I always assumed pop-up books were for kids, but then I realised that they are just as fun for adults too! I rediscovered the pop-up book after having a deeper appreciation of the engineering involved. Pop-up books or movable books have existed since the Middle Ages. The earliest example is a manuscript dating to 1121, titled Liber Floridus, that illustrates the orbits of the planets around earth. The top part of the page folds up as a gatefold to reveal the full illustration.

Pop-up books now have some of the most intricately-crafted paper scenes from classic literature to abstract art, cultural icons to poetry, wondrous creatures and mind-bending alphabets – each book will take you on a journey through the sophisticated, multisensory world of these paper scenes.

Matthew Reinhart is one of the masters in this field with his Star Wars: A Pop-up Guide to the Galaxy making it to the New York Times bestseller list in 2007. Creating a pop-up book can take up to two years and Reinhart has produced several, on subjects ranging from dinosaurs to Harry Potter. Although most pop-up books are now produced in China, Thailand and Laos, they have a global reach and retain their niche readership despite their steep prices.

Robert Sabuda is another master, who created Alice in Wonderland. I have opened the book so often that a small piece of paper jets out when I try to close it. It's one thing to open a pop-up book: it's another to close it!

Ellen G K Rubin is considered the final authority on pop-up books. Ellen had just completed her exhibition at Grolier Club and she very generously explained to me the history of pop-up books and her own journey as a collector. She discovered pop-up books while reading to her two sons – one was on trucks and the other, on dinosaurs. For someone who went to Yale medical school and is a trained microbiologist, her passion may seem odd but she says that pop-up books are a better conversation topic at a cocktail party than bone marrow transplants!

Since she discovered movable books over 25 years ago, Ellen Rubin has now more than 11,000 books and thousands of uncatalogued movable ephemera. She lectures and writes about her books, conducts workshops, curates exhibitions and hosts her website, The Popuplady (popuplady.com), to disseminate information on the subject.

Her speech 'A History of Pop-up and Movable Books: 700 Years of Paper Engineering' (available on YouTube) is the best source of information on the subject. When I asked her what she would do with her collection, she said she is in the process of choosing an institution that can house it. Her mantra is 'shop and share'!

Animated Advertising is a lively look at an underexplored niche in the history of American marketing, graphic design and paper engineering. Drawing from Rubin's collection, the book, illustrated with 250 colour images, demonstrates how animated and dimensional paper devices have been used throughout US and European history to promote products, art, entertainment, and ideas. Rubin's examples of historical paper pop-ups show how they leaped from the pack of standard marketing materials to catch the eye of clientele and inform them about the products.

The Movable Book Society presents the Meggendorfer Prize for Best Paper Engineering for the most outstanding commercially published pop-up or movable book at its biennial conference.

In an increasingly digital world, making handmade pop-up books can be a great hobby. You can explore various online tutorials (check out Mathew Reinhart's online pop-up-tutorials) to learn hand craftsmanship and drive your creativity. Consider making your own pop-up cards or even books as gifts for your loved ones!

HOW TO MAKE FRIENDS IN YOUR 30s

URBAN BOURBON

Hriday Ranjan
Writer, comedian

The 30s are a strange decade. Even as you begin to reach the dreaded Three-Zero, people begin setting life-goals for themselves. It's almost like we are watching our own biopics, and the climax needs to be finalised urgently. As I began approaching my 30s, questions about passion and profession began to trouble me like determined mosquitoes in Bellandur lake. They kept asking me when I would find my calling in life, and why I wasn't already a middle-order batsman in the Chennai Super Kings. I have always wondered why the 30s are so difficult for us. When we move from teens to 20s, we are excited about the possibilities life has to offer. But just a decade later, we torture ourselves over ourselves – flogging our brains to find a solution.

Friendship in childhood is a magical fairy tale. It is when you find that there is that one person for you in the world. Till then, the people in our lives were chosen for us – parents, teachers, tuition teachers. Friends were the first choices we made – based on common interests, or something as mundane as sitting on the same bench. A teenage friend is an explorer along with you. Friendships in the 20s are a matter of abundance. Finally liberated from our schools, we begin to explore – into our desires, passions, and goals. It is a decade filled with the anxiety of going from an education to a job. The friends you make in your 20s are usually from your college or workplace. Someone who shares a cigarette, or a secret. Friends in your 20s all know of your passions in life, and your fledgling relationships.

By the time we reach our 30s, we have found our paths in life. Our friends in school and college have moved on. It makes us question if friendship is mostly relegated to childhood, memories, and nostalgia. But I have made more friends in my 30s than in my earlier decades. Friendships in the 30s are earned, not allotted. You get to find people with similar interests, and nurture them in a mature manner. The other myth propagated is that a city is lonely, and values like friendship are only found in 'purer' places like your hometown. As a man firmly entrenched in my 30s, I can vouch for the fact that this is untrue. The 30s give you the option to choose your friends, without having to sacrifice emotions in return. I have made friends in bars, squash courts, cafes, and movie theatres. These are friendships that don't lay a heavy tax on my soul. It made me realise that a city is teeming with people, all a little lonely.

Look around you, and you will find people who will break out into a smile over a conversation. An entire multitude of people who have stepped out of their homes to chase their dreams. We have always been told that it is better to have a few great friends, than many ordinary ones. But is that necessarily true? Living your 30s in a city teaches you that friendships could also be brief and momentary. That friendship could be need-based, and there is nothing wrong with that. The friends you make in your 30s are closest to the person you are – your choice of the people you like to hang out with. And that there's something cool about sitting with your friends, and discussing the best life insurance policies for each other!

UI TRANSCENDS LANGUAGE BARRIERS, AND ADDRESSES A GLOBAL ISSUE: UPENDRA

The Real Star gears up for the final leg of shooting as the makers aim for a release this year

A SHARADHAA

UHE multitalented Upendra is currently immersed in the last and crucial leg of shooting for his upcoming directorial, UI. A sprawling mega set spread across a 10-acre land in Bengaluru has been constructed where the makers will film crucial sequences over the next 25 to 30 days. "We are in the final stages and have some significant portions to shoot, along with song sequences, all of which will be filmed during this schedule," reveals Upendra, who shares that UI might release later this year, and the team is working to meet the target date.

Team UI

When asked about the progress of the film, Uppi says, "There is no such thing as simple or complicated. Every filmmaker has their own style, and I prefer conveying my thoughts to the audience in a manner that can be better understood once they watch the film." He remains tight-lipped about specific details as he wants the audience to witness it all first-hand. Though UI is a multilingual film, Upendra emphasises that it transcends language barriers as it addresses a global issue. "In addition to being multilingual, I aim to reach out to the global audience. It's an entertaining subject yet it tackles a significant global issue."

UI incorporates various cutting-edge tech: Naveen Manohar

UI is a technology-driven film, and Upendra acknowledges the contribution of one of the film's producers, Naveen Manohar, who has studied 3D animation and Visual Effects. "Naveen's extensive knowledge in animation, graphics, and VFX has enabled the utilisation of the latest technology," says the filmmaker, who adds that it was a pleasure to work with such advanced technology. "Naveen has been instrumental in bringing valuable inputs and technical expertise to the project," he mentions.

In an interaction with CE, Naveen explains that the film features an entire city set, spanning an area as vast as 10 acres, complemented by extensive VFX set extensions. He further elaborates on the visual effects, revealing that the team has created a unique world within the film, comprising over 1400 VFX shots. UI incorporates various cutting-edge technologies, such as VR-Mocobot. Naveen highlights some key achievements, including the 3D scanning of Upendra using a setup of 200+ DSLR cameras to create a photorealistic CG double of the actor. "Additionally, an entire sequence was shot using a virtual reality pipeline, ensuring a fully immersive experience for the audience. Adding to the film's authenticity, art director Shivakumar, known for his work in KGF1 & 2 and Saalar has contributed his exceptional craftsmanship to make the world of UI believable in real life," says Naveen.

Composer Ajaneesh Loknath collaborates with Upendra for the first time in UI

AJANEESH Loknath has been roped in to compose music for director Upendra's upcoming film, UI. Ajaneesh had a blockbuster 2022 with his work in Vikrant Rona and Kantara winning hearts.

UI marks the first time Ajaneesh is composing for a Upendra's directorial. The film is expected to have four tracks.

Produced by G Manoharan's Lahari Films and KP Sreekanth's Venus Entertainers, UI features Reeshma Nanaiah as the female lead, and Sunny Leone, Nidhi Subbaiah in pivotal roles.

PINKI ELLI TO HIT THEATRES AFTER A SUCCESSFUL RUN AT FILM FESTIVALS

CE FEATURES

PRITHVI Konanur's Pinki Elli, which has been garnering success and acclaim at various film festivals both in India and on the international stages for over two years, is now set to release in theaters on June 2. The film delves into the dark world of child trafficking and the begging mafia, drawing inspiration from a true incident highlighted in a news article about a baby from an affluent family who went missing after becoming involved with the begging mafia. According to the director, the intriguing aspect of Pinki Elli lies in the eight-month-old child and the characters surrounding the child.

Pinki Elli marks Prithvi Konanur's third directorial venture, following his previous film, Railway Children, which shed light on young children involved in drug abuse, sexual harassment, and other crimes. Released in 2016, the film won the National Film Award for Best Child Artist in the same year.

In preparation for Pinki Elli, Prithvi conducted extensive research, spending around two years to ensure he addressed every legal aspect he aimed to portray in the film.

The plot revolves around a young mother who experiences a heart-wrenching discovery when she arrives home earlier than expected, only to find her baby daughter and the caretaker missing. This shocking revelation sets off a frantic day for all those involved, compelling them to confront their pasts, face their present realities, and contemplate their uncertain futures.

Prithvi was meticulous in his casting choices and selected Akshatha Pandavapura, Gunjalamma, Deepak Subramanya, Lakshmi Narayana, Anasooya, and Anoop Shoonya to portray the various characters. Pinki Elli is produced by Krishnegowda, with cinematography by P Arjun Raja, and editing by Shivakumara Swamy.
